BRITISH JET TRYING RECORD TO AUSTRALIA

FAYID, Egypt (Reuters) — The British Canberra jet bomber attempting a record flight to Australia landed here today at 1:05 p.m. GMT; 7:05 a.m. CST, today, four hours and 29 minutes after it took off from London.

The plane is bent on beating the flight record of 19 hours and 10 minutes set last May by another Canberra.

The Canberra has two more stops to make on its way to Darwin, North Australia—at Karachi, Pakistan, and Singapore, Malaya.

The bomber took off for Karachi at 1:58 p.m. GMT, 7:58 a.m. CST, after refuelling.

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF

Doctors May Use Thought Therapy

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, DD

This is a chapter of the best-selling book, "The Power of Positive Thinking," by Dr. N. V. Peale. Succeeding chapters will be published in The Times daily.

A physician once told me "Many of my patients have nothing wrong with them except their thoughts. So I have a favorite prescription that I write for some. But it is not a prescription that you can fill at a drug store. The prescription I write is a verse from the Bible, 'Romans 12:2.' I do not write out that verse for my patients. I make them look it up and it reads: '... be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind. ... To be happier and healthier they need a renewing of their minds, that is, a change in the pattern of their thoughts. When they 'take' this prescription they actually achieve a mind full of peace. That helps to produce health and well-being."

A primary method for gaining a mind full of peace is to practice emptying the mind. I recommend a mind-emptying at least twice a day, more often if necessary. Definitely practice emptying your mind of fears, hates, insecurities, regrets, and guilt feelings. The mere fact that you consciously make this effort to empty your mind tends to give relief. Haven't you experienced a sense of release when you have been able to pour out to somebody whom you can trust worrisome matters that lay heavy upon your heart?

I conducted a religious service on board the Ss. Lurline on a recent voyage to Honolulu. In the course of my talk I suggested that people who were carrying worries in their minds might go to the stern of the vessel and imaginatively take each anxious thought out of the mind, drop it overboard, and watch it disappear in the wake of the ship. It seems an almost child-like suggestion, but a man came to me later that day and said, "I did as you suggested and am amazed at the relief it has given me. During this voyage, every evening at sunset I am going to drop all my worries overboard until I develop the psychology of casting them entirely out of my consciousness. Every day I shall watch them disappear in the great ocean of time. Doesn't the Bible say something about 'forgetting those things that are behind'?"

The man to whom this suggestion appealed is not an impractical sentimentalist. On the contrary, he is a person of extraordinary mental stature, an outstanding leader in his field. (Continued on Page 18)

Competition For Pipeline

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—The West Coast Transmission Company found itself squarely lined up against its principal opponent today in a fight for Pacific northwest natural gas markets.

The Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. announced in Dallas, Texas, that it had applied to the U.S. Federal Power Commission for permission to build a $160,000,000 pipeline from New Mexico to Bellingham, Wash.

Representatives of both companies were scheduled to appear before the commission Feb. 16 for approval of their projects.

'No Progress' Reported In Rail Strike Parley

Priest, 2 Other Poles To Die For 'Spying'

All Plead Guilty Of Espionage

LONDON (Reuters) — Communist Poland today sentenced a Roman Catholic priest and two other Poles to death on charges of spying for the United States, Warsaw radio reported.

Four other defendants in the "spy" trial at Krakow drew sentences ranging from six years to life imprisonment.

The accused—four Roman Catholic priests, two men and a woman—all pleaded guilty and asked for "just" sentences.

Condemned to death by the military tribunal were Rev. Josef Lelito, Michal Kowalik and Edward Chachlica.

The other sentences: Rev. Franciszek Szymonek, life imprisonment; Rev. Wit-Brzycki, 15 years; Rev. Jan Pochopien, eight years, and Eugenia Rospond, 20, six years.

The trial brought into the open the Communist regime's struggle against the Catholic church, which has more influence in Poland than other Soviet satellites.

The defendants were alleged to have got routine reports from "naive parish priests" and had them sifted for information to be used against Poland.

The charges involved higher church authorities and the Communists may next bring some bishops to trial.

The trial was given for the order. Sales of government butter had been continuing since November. In Victoria today Mr. Gardiner stated he had nothing further to add to the announcement.

The government still has about 35,000,000 pounds of butter still in stock.

The Good Earth

It's only the soil around a potted plant, but it's still the good earth to Hon. James G. Gardiner (right), Federal Minister of Agriculture, who is in Victoria today to address the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention in the Empress Hotel. "Look at that soil—look at the way this plant has grown," he said to H. H. Hannan, president of the federation. Mr. Hannan agreed that B.C. has "wonderful growing soil." The two men met to discuss draft resolutions which will be presented to the convention. (See stories Page 11).—(Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Presidents, Union Chiefs Adjourn; Meet Again Today

MONTREAL (CP)—Top railway and union executives seeking to head off a nation-wide railroad strike adjourned their meeting for lunch at 1:30 p.m. today and a union spokesman told reporters "no progress" had been made.

The meeting resumes at 4 p.m.

As they left the meeting place in downtown Windsor Hotel, the presidents of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways had no comment to make. They walked off down corridor, talking seriously.

J. A. Kelly of Ottawa, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, told reporters as he left that there had been "no progress."

When a reporter asked whether there had been "no progress at all," he replied: "Unless you call it progress that we are meeting again at 4 o'clock."

The two sides met for 3½ hours in an effort to solve a deadlock arising from the Brotherhood's demand for wage increases for 25,000 union members. It has threatened to pull its men out on strike at 6 a.m. local time next Monday unless a satisfactory settlement is reached.

The situation did not appear hopeful as the meeting adjourned. Some members of the delegations appeared grim-faced as they left the room.

The talks were the second round of discussions in two days. Morning and afternoon meetings Monday ended in failure.

Present today were the presidents of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, whose lines were paralyzed for nine days in 1950 when another group of unions walked off the job in a fight over a pay boost.

Monday's meetings, between the rail vice-presidents and union leaders, collapsed after early indications that some progress might be made. Then, with the situation apparently deadlocked, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced from Ottawa that the railroad presidents were ready to reopen the talks.

The union delegation today includes J. A. Kelly, Ottawa, and L. C. Malone Winnipeg, both international presidents of the BRT and the men who represented the union Monday.

The CPR group was led by president W. A. Mather and included N. R. Crump, vice-president, and E. S. McCracken, Winnipeg, general manager of the line's Prairie division and chairman of its negotiating committee.

Meanwhile, because of uncertainty over the outcome and the short time remaining before the strike deadline, railway executive staffs went ahead with preparations for a possible traffic standstill on their 44,000 miles of line manned by a total of 196,000 employees.

The BRT seeks a 35-per-cent increase for its members and a 40-hour week for yardmen. A conciliation board majority report recommended 12 per cent and a minority report 20 per cent. Difficulty at recent meetings was the brotherhood's wanting to begin discussions on the minority report and the railways' wanting to use the majority report as a basis of discussion.

Average basic wage now is $1.29 an hour.

Members of the brotherhood who would strike if a settlement is not reached include conductors, brakemen, flagmen, yardmen, yard foremen and yard masters. Conductors on the western section of the CNR have their own brotherhood.

Those who would not be on strike but would be affected indirectly by the walkout would include telegraphers, station porters, maintenance men, mechanics, tower men and engineers and firemen, the latter having their own brotherhoods.

Commercial communications would not be affected, but telegraphers dealing solely with the movements of trains would have no work to do unless other arrangements are made by executives now studying procedure during a possible shutdown.

Sadsack Merriman Freely Admits Job Is Strictly From Hunger

BY TOM MERRIMAN

Newspaper life is getting so complicated I would like to quit and run a pub or something.

After a bitter argument with the managing editor I am joined for another one of those slimming diets.

Last year it was Josephine Lowman's ten nightmarish days of deprivation and denial of most of the things that make life worth while to cut off seven measly pounds which is neither here nor there on a well-rounded figure.

It's true I don't play soccer or water polo anymore. On the other hand I don't want to either. Haven't for over 30 years.

I resisted the assignment but I didn't get anywhere.

"Take this home and read it, Tom," the Man. Ed. said. He handed me a copy of the Readers' Digest. I already had one at home but it's so seldom he gives anything for nothing I took it anyway.

I had read the article. It was the usual line about the danger of overweight. It said the death rate of those who are around 20 per cent too heavy is 44 per cent higher than those of normal weight.

I wasn't impressed.

A few weeks ago I had read another article headed "Don't Worry, Fat Men!"

It compared their carefree, happy way of living and ordering food with that of pill-swallowing, narrow-waisted, ulcer-ridden dyspeptics who bring into a restaurant an atmosphere of gloom as, with drawn brows, they study the menu and decide on one caraway seed and a slice of dry toast.

"They," said the article, "turn every meal into a funeral ceremony. The fat man dies but once, probably with a smile on his face dreaming of roast beef with horse radish, Yorkshire pudding smothered in rich brown gravy, brussel sprouts, potatoes cooked around the roast, a well spiked trifle for dessert, coffee well sweetened or a bottle of stock ale."

Two of the most genial, happiest men I know are Walter Thompson, ex-publicity director of the Canadian National, and

Between ourselves this Man. Ed.'s superficially pleasant way of saying "will you do a series?" is only cover for a mailed fist way of giving an order to do a job, particularly a tough one.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Danny O'Brien, trade union organizer, was released on $1,000 bail Monday when he appeared in police court charged with conspiring to kidnap a woman.

Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson remanded him for one week.

Police say the case, which came to their attention last June, is "fairly serious" but gave no details.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

TRIBUTE TO 'BICARB'

EVERY SO OFTEN someone comes up with an idea for a monument to somebody or another. And whether the memorial is to be erected in Victoria, in Toronto, in Oshkosh, Wis., or in London, England, the proposal is usually met with a barrage of pros and cons as to whether the one memorialized merits it or as to the form the monument should take.

So I am awaiting with much interest the public reaction to the proposal made in England recently by Lord Horder, distinguished surgeon and physician to the Royal family, for a monument to be erected to the "Unknown Pharmacologist."

'UNKNOWN PHARMACOLOGIST'

Dyspeptic old gentlemen and retired, choleric colonels in clubland are, no doubt, already framing their pens on the "Letters to the Editor" column of The Times as they reach for a bicarbonate of soda.

For the pharmacologist whose memory Lord Horder would perpetuate for posterity is the unknown who first discovered the soothing influence of baking soda—or bicarbonate of soda—to give it its more impressive name. The sad part of it is that such a benefactor should remain unknown.

SOOTHING NOSTRUM

With that perfect sense of timing which is a sign of genius, the distinguished physician chose the after-holiday period to make his suggestion. What better moment to talk of memorials to the discoverer of baking soda than just when everyone was suffering from the aftermath of Christmas and New Year, when the mere mention of turkey and Christmas pudding was nauseating to those who had had a surfeit of them?

Into the welter of heartburn and indigestion that follows any orgy of over-eating or imprudent dining, the mere introduction of a bit of bicarb has a soothing influence on the inner man.

AND CHEAP, TOO

In offering up tributes to Lord Horder's unknown pharmacologist we should remember, too, that his remedy was not only one of the simplest and most easily obtainable but one of the cheapest. And that is something to cherish in these days of ever-new discoveries in pharmaceutical preparations and of ever-rising prices.

It's surprising that long ago some enterprising promoter didn't put it in a glamorous container, bedizen it with cellophane, and broadcast it over the air with a blurb describing it as Dr. Aesopagus Flatulence's magic remedy for every postprandial upheaval—at a price!

SIMPLE SOLUTION

What form a monument to such a simple solution should take is, of course, something else. As the pharmacologist is unknown I am all for placing it in a prominent place passed daily by a procession of the potential stomach-ache class. And I would see to it that a teaspoon, a glass and a box of baking soda were depicted prominently on the plinth.

I would also find room for the reproduction of some such salutary reminder of intestinal vulnerability as this verse from the once-popular song:

"In these days of indigestion it is oftentimes a question—
As to what to eat and what to leave alone;
For each microbe and bacillus has a different way to kill us.
And in time they always claim us for their own."

Record Concerts Will Resume At Library; In Great Demand

Victoria Public Library believes it is filling a "great need and demand" with its series of monthly recorded concerts in the library's music room.

First concert of the new year will be held Friday night at 8 when works of Chopin, Haydn and Schubert will be heard as well as folk songs by Kathleen Ferrier, contralto.

The concert is free of charge and the library plans to sponsor one a month.

"A lot of people cannot afford concerts but do like to hear the music," said Miss Isabelle Pike, who is in charge of arrangements. "Scarcely a day goes by that we don't get a query about record concerts. Both old and young people are interested."

MANY BRING SCORES

Musicians frequently bring their scores along with which to follow the music, Miss Pike said.

Miss Thersa Pollock, librarian, said the planned concerts and aims for development of a recorded music library were just an "extension of the library idea."

"The public library brings books to the people," she stated. "This will bring music in the same way and it has infinite possibilities."

The library now has 160 records, including the main symphonies, concertos, operas, chamber music, vocal and instrumental.

WILL BUILD UP

"It is hoped the collection will be added to and built up as we try to develop this feature," said Miss Pollock.

In its sponsored concerts the library aims at presenting a balanced program of classical, dramatic and modern music.

Friday's program includes: Chopin's Rondo for piano and orchestra, Opus 14, played by the Munich Broadcasting Symphony Orchestra; Haydn's Symphony No. 82 in C, played by Vienna Symphony and Schubert's piano quintet in A major, Opus 114, "The Trout."

Kathleen Ferrier will be heard in the following folk songs: "My Bonny Lad," "The Keel Row," "Blow the Wind South-erly," and "Have You Seen but a White Lily Grow?"

The RCAF Dakota which sighted the overturned craft at 9:30 a.m. CST still was circling the area. Officials said there was little likelihood a two-man para-rescue squad aboard would jump.

Men Warned Of 4 Types Of Women

PENZANCE, Eng. (AP)—

Judge J. Scobell Armstrong, 75-year-old divorce-court veteran, warns men against four kinds of women:

1. Cats. "Let him see whether her eyes are warm, bright and kind, or whether they are cold, dry and cat-like. If they are cold, let him see her off."

2. Saints. "Saints are wonderful, but rather difficult for sinners to live with."

3. The fun-made type. "The wife who is always wanting you to go to dances, however tired you are, can be very trying."

4. Stupid women. "Marriage with a fool, however sweet and lovely she may be, is a drab affair for the clever partner—and she will give him stupid children."

Judge Armstrong delivered this distillation of his long experience to members of the Church of England men's society here Monday night.

'Canada' Fire Probe Goes On

Home Office Scientist, Police Question Liner's Work Party

LIVERPOOL (CP)—The probe for possible sabotage in the fire death of the Empress of Canada continued today as the hulk of the once-proud trans-Atlantic liner lay half-submerged in her berth, still smouldering from the flames that gutted her.

LATE GEORGE HUTCHEON

82-Year-Old Dies During Daily Dip In Swimming Pool

George L. Hutcheon, 82, former Saskatchewan farmer and prominent in the Scouting movement for many years, died while taking his daily swim Monday.

For years he had swum every day at the Crystal Garden but, since the closing of that pool for repairs, had been taking his dip in the YMCA tank.

That is where he died. Alfred Parkin, 145 Oliver, saw Mr. Hutcheon's body in about five feet of water.

Physical director Archie McKinnon brought it to the surface and a fire department emergency crew worked to revive the man, without success. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Measles Hits Chatham, Ont. Three Deaths

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—An epidemic of measles which is sweeping through this area has sent scores of children to bed. Three youngsters have died as a result of complications following the disease.

Dr. Wilson Lee, a children's specialist in this southwestern Ontario city, said the number of measles cases here and in Kent county constitutes an epidemic. He added:

"The fact that three children have died from complications after measles would indicate that the virus is a very virulent one."

"There is certainly more than a mere seasonal increase in the disease. Compared to other years, it's quite a big epidemic. I can't give you exact figures, but the principals of the schools will confirm that a lot of their pupils are away with measles."

CNR TRAINS 14 HOURS LATE AFTER ACCIDENT

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (BUP)—Trans-continental Canadian National Railway passenger trains are running nearly 14 hours late into Vancouver today following a second accident Monday in the Rocky Mountains.

Twenty-four cars of a CNR freight train were derailed four miles east of Alberta Station and the route may be blocked for 36 hours.

Wrecking crews left for the scene from Jasper, Alta., and Kamloops, B.C. But the cause of the derailment was not yet known.

Two trans-continental trains due in Vancouver this morning were consolidated and re-routed over CPR lines. The combined train was due at 10 p.m. tonight (PST).

$6,000 Damages for Dental Chair Death

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Ontario Court of Appeals, which tossed out a lower court judgment dismissing Mrs. Holt's claim.

Her husband, Lee Robert Holt, died in the office of Dr. Percy L. Nesbitt of Ottawa on Feb. 27, 1950, after he had 10 teeth extracted in about 15 minutes. He had been given a general anaesthetic of nitrous oxide.

A pathologist testified at the original hearing that Holt was asphyxiated by a piece of gauze known as a sponge which was lodged in his throat. Dr. Nesbitt testified that other sponges placed in the patient's mouth had been removed after Holt collapsed.

"There appears to be no doubt that the appellant (Nesbitt) kept no count of the sponges he inserted in Holt's mouth," the Supreme Court judgment said.

The court dismissed Nesbitt's appeal against the appeal court judgment awarding Mrs. Nesbitt's claim.

Red Germany's Purge Hits Foreign Office

Refugees Fleeing to West at Rate of 1,000 A Day Harassed by Snow But Continue Flight

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communist purge is reported today sweeping through the entire foreign ministry including the diplomatic corps assigned to Moscow and the satellites.

Principal targets of the purge are said to be those representatives endorsed by Dertinger for their assignments.

Recall of Stefan Heymann, minister to Hungary, and Erhard Scheffler, minister to Albania, is reported ordered.

Other employees of the ministry in Prague, Warsaw, Budapest and Tirana, the capital of Albania, also will be brought back to Berlin, the report added.

The plight of terror-stricken refugees fleeing from the purge was further complicated today by a driving snowstorm. Nevertheless, East Germans continued to trickle through the Red controls and show up at refugee headquarters. The 1,000-a-day pace of the last 10 days appears to be continuing.

The announcement was made today by Winnipeg police chief Charles McIver.

The woman was accused of cutting the throats of her children, eight-year-old Harry and his two-day-old sister. Police gave no motive for the slaying.

Daddy, what is stainless steel?

INCO Nickel

"Stainless steel is steel that doesn't stain. Most metals turn dark when acids or chemicals touch them. Even in the air, silver turns dark, copper rooks turn green, iron gets red with rust. If the right proportions of chromium and nickel are mixed into the steel when it is being made, it becomes 'stainless', even in many acids or chemicals, and also becomes rust-proof."

"Is it used for anything besides saucepans like these new ones of mother's?"
"Yes, the huge cooking pots in food plants are stainless steel. So is our sink bowl, not only because it's so easy to keep clean, and rust-proof, but also because it is so hard and strong it doesn't scratch or dent. Stainless steel is also used in hundreds of industries where acids and other chemicals are handled. Whole railway coaches are made of stainless steel because it is so tough and strong, and doesn't even need to be painted."

The Bond Holder

MANY CANADIANS ARE DISTURBED by a drop in the price of certain Canadian government bonds. To read some newspapers, indeed, one might think that the government (for some obscure reason) was deliberately damaging the bond holder in the hope of securing his vote at the next election. A queer process of logic.

The changes in the bond market are a complex business which obviously much of the public and some of the press do not understand.

It must be understood, to begin with, that the government never promised that all its bonds would always sell at par. It repeatedly refused to give such a guarantee when it was urged to do so by the CCF, as the parliamentary record shows. It guaranteed only that, at the maturity date of every bond, it would be redeemed at a hundred cents on the dollar. No one who holds a bond to maturity date will lose a cent. The temporary fall in some bond prices today is no violation of the government's contract.

To put the thing simply, when the government is able, for example, to sell a bond for a hundred dollars with interest at 2 per cent that establishes a low interest rate throughout the nation. Provincial governments, municipalities and private corporations can then sell their bonds at low interest rates, somewhat higher than those of the central government because their security is always rated lower than the government's.

When low interest rates prevail borrowing by governments, by corporations and by individuals is encouraged because the cost is cheap. When debt is thus increased so is the total supply of money in circulation since new money, in the form of credit, is created. When interest rates are high borrowing is discouraged and the supply of money falls.

During times of depression it is sound to keep interest rates low to increase the supply of money and to stimulate public purchasing power. During times of inflation an opposite policy is required to hold down the supply of money because there are insufficient goods to satisfy it. Too much money in relation to the goods it can buy naturally pushes up prices, as we have seen of recent years.

For many years America has followed a low interest rate and cheap money policy. And who has suffered most from the inflation resulting from this and other factors? The bond holder, of course. By the rise in prices the real value of his bond has been cut in half, even though he could sell it at any time for a hundred cents on the dollar and sometimes even more.

His true interest lies, therefore, in arresting inflation and restoring the value of his money. He more than anyone is interested in a fundamental attack on inflation.

Takes Two To Make a Rate Cut

CANADIAN BUSINESSMEN have greeted with enthusiasm TCA's announcement of cuts in air freight charges. Effective February 15 the long-haul rates will drop about 30 per cent, and a consequent increase in use of the service is expected.

The cost per 100 pounds between Victoria and Toronto, for instance, will be reduced from $30.80 to $22.30. Many cargoes on which a few cents made all the difference between profit and loss may now be sent by the faster air service.

Some may have wondered why such a rate reduction is made at this time. Have the company's costs suddenly decreased?

There is strong reason to believe that Trans-Canada Airlines might never have made the reduction if it had not been for Canadian Pacific Airlines.

TCA started hauling air cargoes some time ago. The freight is carried on regular passenger planes whenever there is room. While delivery by any particular date was not guaranteed there apparently were few delays. The service filled a genuine need and was used, even at the rates in effect.

The airline contended that these rates were set as low as possible and that in any case there was only a limited amount of goods that could be handled by this means. But a new element came into the picture.

This was an application by CPA for a license to enter the air cargo business. Eastern Canada would be linked with the Pacific by way of the Pas and Edmonton, in a parallel service to that of TCA, which operates through Calgary.

This would put CPA in direct competition with TCA, and open up a new principle of air operations in Canada. Under the existing regulations, TCA operates the only regularly scheduled flights from coast to coast. CPA, apart from its overseas operations, is limited to north-south routes and feeder lines connecting with TCA centres.

CPA planned to put new cargo planes into service, with rates that were well under the original TCA charges. The application is due to come before the Transport Board on February 17—two days after the new TCA rate schedule comes into effect.

The moral of the story appears to be that competition is the only sure hope of the consumer that he will receive the best service possible at the lowest cost. And this holds even when one of the competitors is the public itself, in the guise of a nationally-owned company.

It is true that the bond holder who must sell an old low-interest bond at the moment will not get a hundred cents on the dollar and such persons unquestionably will suffer. But most bond holders will not have to sell until maturity date when they will be paid in full. Others, by using bonds as collateral, can secure bank loans for immediate needs without selling the bonds.

Nevertheless, in a disease as rampant and dangerous as inflation (which is by no means cured yet), surgery, though essential, will be painful for some. The alternative to a real anti-inflation policy is ruinous to everybody, and most directly ruinous to the holder of any bond, life insurance policy or other fixed investment.

Brain-Teaser

CLAIMS MADE BY PRIVATE radio stations in Canada are observed with interest, and often with affection, by their colleagues in the newspaper field. A new peak has recently been achieved in statements broadcast by local stations.

CJVI tells its listeners that it has "more listeners than all other Vancouver Island stations combined." Simultaneously, CKDA assures its audience: "By every survey—Victoria's most-listened-to station."

We have pondered these two statements deeply. And we give up. If Prof. Einstein is listening, we would appreciate some help.

LOOSE ENDS

Good Scouts—Good Citizens

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

NOW and then, even in a world of this sort, a man sees a little glint of hope. Such a glint could be detected here the other night when the Boy Scouts held their annual meeting and listened to the wisdom of a great British Columbian.

Hutchison

Robert Baden-Powell was one of the few good ideas discovered in this century.

You can only realize how good it is when you compare it with the parallel ideas of some other countries. The founder of the Boy Scout movement believed that boys could be trained for a decent life without military discipline, without the inculcation of poisonous ideas or, as Judge Wilson said, without being made into monsters. Fascism in Germany and Italy, communism in Russia, produced their monsters by systematic education. The free countries in many parts of the world produced their Boy Scouts.

FROM NORWAY

THERE were a lot of them at the banquet here and the look of those boys was the most heartening sight I have seen in many years. Some of them were now young men. Others, the cubs, were chubby-faced boys in the first charming and brief stages of boyhood. And among the latter was a very interesting specimen.

He was a little golden-haired fellow who had come here from Norway only three months ago but already had been fully accepted into the mysterious realm of boyhood where character is the only passport. As Judge Wilson said in his fine speech, a boy knows nothing of racial hatred. To him all other boys, of any race or color, are just boys like himself. What he learns later about race, about class, about discrimination in any form, he learns from us. All his virtues come from his elders. If he could remain free of this infection, if all boys everywhere could retain the best part of their boyhood, there would be no more wars.

JUDGE WILSON had been talking, a few days before, to the chief of police in Vancouver. The chief had said in a public speech that never in his experience had he found a former Boy Scout in trouble with the law. The Judge said this was also true of his criminal court. He had never found a former Scout standing in the prisoner's box.

Nevertheless, the Judge could hardly believe the police chief and supposed that he might be making only a general statement, forgetting, perhaps, some exceptions to the rule. No, said the chief, it was literally true that he had never found a former Boy Scout in trouble with the police.

GENTLEMEN

THAT, as the Judge said, is a remarkable, an almost incredible and a very hopeful fact. The fact is that boys trained in Scouting, with rare exceptions, turn out to be good men. Mostly, one supposes, because goodness is not forced on them, they are not expected to be saints, they may not even be Christians (many of them are Mohammedans) but they are simply taught to lead a decent life.

They are taught, in fact, said the Judge, to be gentlemen. Then he added that the word "gentlemen" is the most abused in the English language, having taken on a kind of snobbish and shabby sheen. A gentleman, in the Judge's definition, is exactly what the word was meant to imply—a man who is manly and gentle.

That is the kind of man bred by the Scouts movement and as the Judge added, if that kind of man, if that kind of idea cannot defeat the monstrous ideas of our present enemy nothing can defeat him and we had better throw in our hand now.

WELL, an old man watching the Scouts demonstrate some of their skills could not feel that if we had more boys of this sort there would be no doubt about the outcome of the struggle. Only a few years from now such lads will take over the management of our country. In their hands it will be safe.

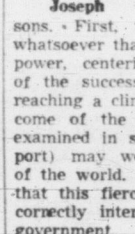

But few will pause to remember how much work has gone into the training of even a single Scout—work done by obscure men and women giving their time and effort without thought of reward or even a word of recognition.

THEY, more than the people who are always in the newspapers, are the real makers of the country. If they had more money—for this work costs money as well as brains—they could do more, bring more boys into the Scouts movement and thus multiply the real, living wealth of the nation. They can do something which neither the home nor the school can do. They and they alone are creating the first international brotherhood of boys, which knows no barriers and assures only good to everybody.

Key Post at Moscow

BY JOSEPH AND STEWART

EXCEPT for the ambassadorship to Italy—and the plan to send Mrs. Clare Booth Luce to Rome seems to have hit some snags—only one really important diplomatic appointment remains to be made. This is the ambassadorship to the Soviet Union. The choice President Eisenhower has made is Secretary of State John Foster Dulles make for this post may well be more crucial than any other appointment abroad.

Joseph

There are two reasons. First, there is now no doubt whatsoever that a fierce struggle for power, centring around the question of the succession to Joseph Stalin, is reaching a climax in Moscow. The outcome of the struggle (which will be examined in some detail in a later report) may well determine the future of the world. It is absolutely essential that this fierce but obscure contest be correctly interpreted for the American government.

It is widely believed that any American ambassador in Moscow is a futile figure, condemned to isolation and virtual imprisonment in gloomy Spassko House. It is true that the Moscow ambassadorship is hardly a pleasant or desirable diplomatic plum, which is one reason there has been so little speculation about the post. It is also true that except in special circumstances the American envoy has no contact with the Soviet rulers.

EMPTY CONVERSATION
Ambassador George Kennan, for example, recently dismissed summarily by the Kremlin, had just one formal and empty conversation with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

Yet there are ways (which have nothing to do with beautiful blond spies planted in the Kremlin) for a man with very special training and abilities to sense—almost to absorb the atmosphere—the inner reality of the Moscow scene. Kennan's dispatches from Moscow, according to reliable reports, were the most brilliantly perceptive of any since the war.

It was in part just because they were aware that Kennan understood what was going on around him that the Soviet rulers seized the first opportunity to get rid of him.

There is another reason why the choice for the Moscow post is so important. There may well be only one hope of ending the Korean war without greatly and most dangerously expanding the area of conflict. This is by direct negotiations with the Kremlin, backed by the will and the means to use maximum force in Korea if negotiation fails.

As Kennan said in his recent controversial speech, we must "while cultivating strength, remain at all times prepared to negotiate where negotiation is required."

There have been exaggerated interpretations of the Kennan speech as a challenge to the Dulles foreign policy. But, in fact, negotiation on a specific and limited issue like a Korean truce is by no means ruled out by Dulles and other Eisenhower foreign policy advisers.

The negotiations leading to an end of the Berlin blockade, initiated by Under Secretary of State Bevel Smith when he was ambassador in Moscow, are cited as the most obvious examples of direct contact serving a limited but useful purpose. Even the idea of a meeting between President Eisenhower and Joseph Stalin has not been absolutely ruled out.

Any attempt to make direct contact at any level with the Soviet rulers is certainly a difficult, delicate, and exceedingly dangerous task. And simply because direct contact may at some point in the fairly near future be found desirable, a man with special training and background is badly needed as the American representative in Moscow.

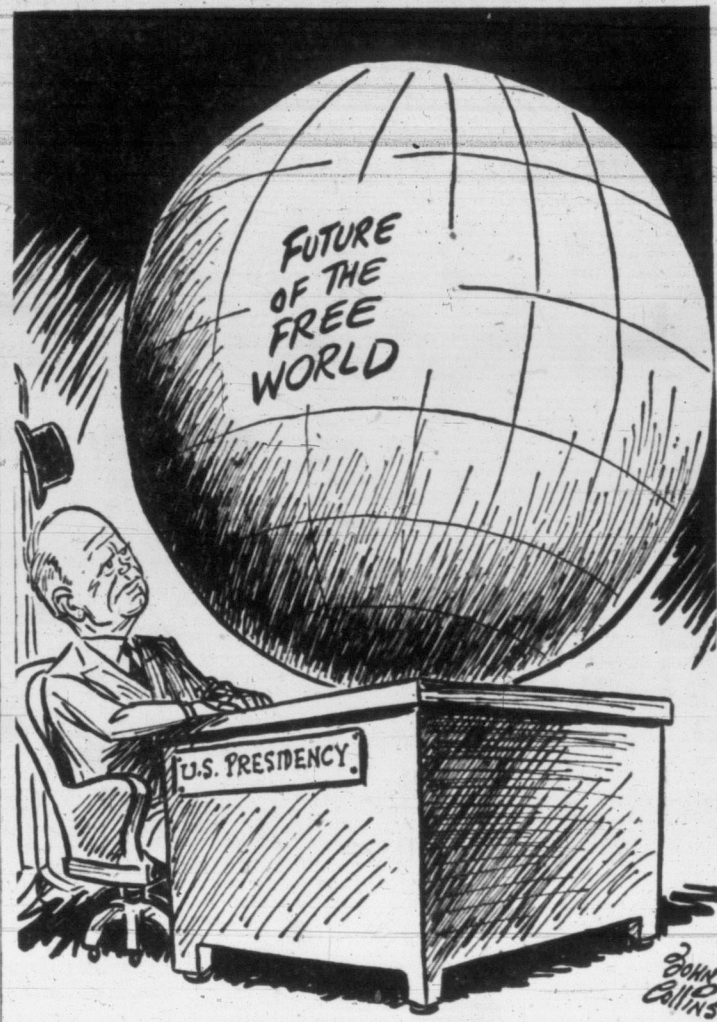

Aside from some rather casual talk of sending Ralph Bunche to the Soviet Union (which would be essentially a propaganda gesture) the President and his chief foreign policy advisers have apparently not considered the Moscow appointment very seriously yet. This is because they are in no hurry to fill the post. They are no doubt quite right. Any over-eagerness on this score, so soon after Kennan's dismissal, would be considered a sign of weakness by the Soviet rulers.

As Our Readers See It

GOLDEN HOUR

Not a very good scholar, just a working man. Not very good eyesight so I never could see Alberta's Golden Hour. I'm just an old soldier, a veteran of the First Great War.

Ernie doesn't like veterans. He stopped the Canadian Legion from playing bingo. Profits from bingo buy cigarettes and comforts for old soldiers and young soldiers in army hospital in Edmonton. Maybe B.C.'s hand-wagon hoppers will not like it once they know there is no 70 dollars a month bonus, and Alberta's Golden Hour is all snow, no gold.

WM. McCausland,
Edmonton, Alta.

BAKERY APPEAL
I see by a BUP dispatch from Edmonton that the six western Canadian bakeries have let their appeal to the fines of $30,000 go by default. No doubt they thought it best to avoid succeeding publicity in this matter.

Thirty thousand dollars is a "drop in the bucket" compared to the extra taken from the public due to the proved combine.

I see also under recent date that the United Grain Growers Ltd. intend to ask for increased bread and flour prices to the Canadian consumer.

Bread is selling in England for about half the price it is here.

Bread and flour prices are high and have been right along.

When will the people wake up and assert themselves?

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE,
151 Beach Drive.

CAINE MUTINY
I trust it is not too late to say, for many others as well as for myself, how much we enjoyed Hermann Wouk's "Caine Mutiny" as a serial in your paper.

Those of us who have had a turn in some navy themselves will have been struck by the cowardly behavior of the captain of the Caine, specially in battle and may remember some similar personality in their own experience, though perhaps not as mean as this individual is portrayed.

And those who ever have been a member of a court-martial will have felt suspense in awaiting the outcome of the court-martial which judged the mutiny, and they must have found relief when they read how the defense counsel turned the tables on Captain Queeg!

Some of us would be thankful if justice could be meted out to similar mean characters in civil life, who now do as much or more damage, but who go scotfree, unless stopped by one of their victims.

You might give us more similar stories, based on real life, Mr. Editor, to enjoy. There are quite a few of us who can't afford to buy expensive books and who can't even squeeze out a few dollars to avail themselves of library facilities (if they live in unorganized territory).

F. H. STAVELMAN,
Langford Lake.

HOSPITALITY
May I commend you for your recent editorial drawing attention to the need for hospitality to the service men stationed here.

During the war a great effort was made to fill this need and Robert House was opened as a service centre. There is as much need for such a centre now and evidently few people are inviting the boys from the three services to share the Sunday dinner or to spend an evening in a home.

From my own experience I can assure you that boys from 17 through the early twenties who are away from home for the first time, do not crave lavish entertainment. It is home with a capital H that they miss and simple hospitality in a home would change their feeling for Victoria. The boys enjoy a home-cooked meal, like to wipe the dishes and to pal up with the household pets. Then they will have something to write home to Mom about!

May I suggest that kindly folk call any service headquarters, invite a couple of lads to a meal, take them with you to church and young people's group, or for a drive and later on for a picnic. Just treat them as you hope someone is treating your boy in Halifax or any far-away post. The boys will love it and will carry away a happy feeling about this beautiful city which only real friendship can engender.

(MISS) D. GORDON COX,
950 Falmouth Road.

FOR THE INVENTIVE MIND
I notice that recently deaths have occurred due to asphyxiation caused by omitting to shut off gas in stoves, etc. I would like to suggest therefore that every stove in which gas is used should be fitted with an "automatic shutoff," and if such a thing has not as yet been invented I would further suggest that some of our young mechanical engineers try their hand at designing an "automatic shutoff" which would be efficient.

One might reply: "Why don't you do it?" Well, that is not exactly in my department as I am not a gas engineer and I leave it to someone with a cleverer brain than mine.

I have an idea that such an invention is quite feasible and furthermore I consider that, by law, no stove, etc., in which gas is used, should be permitted to be sold unless fitted with an automatic cutoff, and also an inspector should come round regularly to examine all gas stoves, fittings, etc., to check any leakage and see the cutoff is working.

INTERESTED.

CIVIC COMMITTEES
I have been reading of the rumpus going on, according to the press, about the civic committees, and I sincerely hope all others have done so. The mayor of Victoria, or any other city for that matter, has every right to change all committees. I feel the mayor of Victoria has done rightly.

If I may say so I think some of the committees should have been changed when he first became mayor. It is quite out of order to my mind to allow anyone to stay on any committee too long. In fact I consider some have been on the city council too long.

I think also that the mayor should have another alderman to take Alderman Christie's place on the welfare and social service work other than Alderman Skillings, as he does not seem to agree with the mayor on any points. I have in mind which alderman I would have placed there, but I think the mayor has his reasons for all he does.

MRS. ADELAIDE MARSHALL,
1415 Cook Street.

NO SHOW
In your issue of January 13 you have another article on suggested liquor laws. I note in this one it is suggested that we drink our cocktails to "soft music" and am wondering whether the "soft music" would consist of hymns played on a gramophone or do we drink to the strains of "Red Hot Mama" or "Come where the booze is cheaper" also by gramophone?

I also note that while imbibing we are not to be allowed the pleasure of seeing "Little Dolly Daydream" doing the Hoochie Koochie, or in other words "floor shows will not be permitted"—far too wicked!

Being possessed with a slight sense of humor I cannot help thinking that text of the whole liquor controversy is intensely funny and gets funnier as years (or is it months?) roll on.

Suppose they had such queer ideas on the subject of liquor in France—how would Parisiennes take it?—Shades of Napoleon!

B.C. Budget of $150 Millions Seen As Socreds Strive for Economies

BY GORDON FORBES
Times Legislature Reporter

Speculation on the Social Credit government's first budget is running high as the opening of the provincial Legislature next Tuesday draws near.

The treasury board, headed by Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, had been meeting daily for two weeks grappling with estimates submitted by the many departments of government. It is the board's task to consider these estimates and frame them into a budget for operation of British Columbia in 1953-54.

The big question in government circles is: "Will the Socreds be able to halt the post-war trend of increasing provincial expenditure?"

Although preparation of the budget is still incomplete, the answer to this question is in the affirmative, according to informed sources.

Thus, British Columbians can look for a budget between $145,000,000 and $150,000,000.

The 1952-53 budget was $141,900,000, but wage increases to civil servants just before the June election totaled nearly $2,000,000, bringing the actual budget to almost $144,000,000. The Socreds have set their sights on a budget in this vicinity, and it is to this end the treasury board is now working.

SEE HOW THEY GROW

Since the end of the Second World War B.C.'s budget has grown by leaps and bounds. Here's a list of budgets:

1946-47: $46,315,000; 1947-48: $63,476,000; 1948-49: $77,400,000; 1949-50: $92,000,000; 1950-51: $105,500,000; 1951-52: $118,000,000; 1952-53: $141,900,000.

Most departments this year are aiming at reducing administrative costs 10 per cent, but are reporting considerable difficulty in gaining this objective.

It is understood, however, the government is prepared to make use of supplementary estimates if various departments find they simply cannot keep within their estimated expenditure.

This means if a department over-expend by $50,000, for example, cabinet approves the expenditure by passing a special warrant. This amount is included in the supplementary estimates which are presented for approval to the following session of the legislature.

Such a method gives the government stricter control of its budget, although it may meet criticism from opposition parties who would contend the government was not presenting a true budget.

PSYCHOLOGY LESSON

But government sources point out there is a psychological aspect to setting low departmental budgets. If a budget is set too high, the department has a tendency to spend its entire appropriation whether it needs the funds or not.

Conversely, if the departmental budget is low, department heads will strive to keep within the limit. Even if the department does exceed its budget, the total expenditure isn't as high under the "austerity approach" as it would be under the "sky's the limit" method, it is argued.

The new government's policy with hospital and school district budgets is significant.

Budgets of both these services must be held at last year's level, according to the government's order.

Meanwhile, a high government source has said the government will launch the "biggest highway program in B.C.'s history" without borrowing any money.

How such a program can be paid for out of general revenue is not known, and the government isn't revealing any details of its plan.

In this respect, Premier W. A. C. Bennett has pointed out the government is not asking hospital and school boards to do anything it is not doing itself.

He states that "inflationary forces are tapering off."

A man who started a new business a few years ago recently wrote to pay tribute to the bank's part in helping to make it a success:

"We were fortunate in having, as our banker, a man who could combine with experience the willingness to find a way that called not for experience alone but for imagination as well."

The chartered banks are forever alert to the fresh problems, the changing needs of their customers. At all times, in all your banking problems, you can depend on your local bank to bring experience and imagination to the task of helping you to "find a way".

Nanaimo Tourist Total Near Victoria's

DUNCAN.—Operation of the Black Ball Ferry from Nanaimo last year and want the support to the mainland will give Nanaimo as many tourists in 1953 as Victoria had in 1952. Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce president Jack Evans told the Duncan chamber Monday.

"We distributed a brochure on tourist work compared to Victoria's $40,000, and that plans for 1953 include coverage of both the CPR and Black Ball terminals."

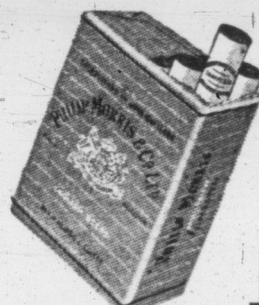

P. B. Latrobe, Nanaimo chamber secretary-manager, said Nanaimo spent only $4,000 last year on tourist work compared to Victoria's $40,000, and that plans for 1953 include coverage of both the CPR and Black Ball terminals.

9 second service!

How do we know how fast the Victoria telephone service is? Young ladies like this use a stop-watch to time a certain number of calls every day. In this way the average speed is known.

Nine seconds is the average time it takes to put through a telephone call within the Victoria telephone exchange area, from the time that the subscriber lifts the receiver until the called telephone rings or the "busy" signal is received.

And when the Albion, Belmont and Colquitz exchanges are converted to automatic operation in 1954, the same speedy service will be extended to them. At that time the charge for calls between Albion, Belmont, Colquitz and Victoria will be abolished, making it unnecessary to put calls through an operator for ticketing purposes. Calls will then be handled entirely by the high-speed automatic machinery.

It is impossible to give the "flat rate" service before the conversion because the resulting increase in calls would completely swamp the existing Albion, Belmont and Colquitz switchboards.

The conversion of Albion, Belmont and Colquitz to automatic service is an important step in our Company's record-breaking program of expansion and improvement.

Red War Still Feared By Yugoslav Diplomat

Kremlin Aggression May Create New Battleground for NATO Forces

Yugoslavia might have been, and still may be, another Korea, in the opinion of Dr. Rajko Djermanovic, Yugoslavia's ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to Canada.

In a speech to a joint meeting of Gyro Club and Chamber of Commerce at the Empress Hotel Monday, he said: "The distance of about 7,000 miles separating B.C. from my country is about the same as the distance to Korea."

"Yugoslavia still might be a new victim of Soviet imperialistic aggression, where your boys might eventually be obliged to go as soldiers of NATO."

"Europe, not Asia, is the centre of gravity of world security. The Kremlin is the furnace which might set the world on fire."

He said that the reasons why Yugoslavia is not today a Soviet satellite state are: "Soviet armies in the last war did not liberate us; we did the job ourselves. The Yugoslavs have an invincible spirit of independence; in the last 150 years, the Yugoslavs waged 10 major wars and 40 uprisings and revolutions for the union of Yugoslavs in one state."

RESISTANCE RECORD
"In the past 10 years," he added, "Yugoslavia has resisted the two most powerful and dangerous tyrants the world has ever had, Hitler and Stalin."

Dr. Djermanovic pointed out that "during the last two wars we were always on the right side, always together with Canada. In the last war, our contribution to civilization was 2,000,000 human losses, 12 per cent of the population, pinning down steadily during the war 33 German and Italian divisions."

"Our key strategic position, guarding access to the Mediterranean and to Italy, France and the Atlantic is the reason for Soviet imperialistic pressure on Yugoslavia."

He outlined Yugoslavia's natural resources, including 23 out of 26 strategic ores, and a hydro-electric power potential of 24,000,000 horsepower.

Drydock Company Fights $21,384 Court Order

Burrard Drydock Co. Ltd., North Vancouver, Monday appealed to B.C. Court of Appeal to set aside a Supreme Court order made last Oct. 6 requiring it to pay $21,384, plus other costs amounting to about $2,000, to two steamship companies.

The order was made by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady to compensate Canadian Union Line Ltd. and Union Steamship Company of New Zealand for a $21,384 judgment he earlier brought down against them.

The initial judgment was in favor of Australian Newsprint Mills Ltd., with head office in Boyer, Tasmania.

The newsprint firm brought action against CULL, owner of the steamship Waitomo, and USCWN, charter of that vessel, because 13,418 bales of unbleached sulphite wood pulp, shipped in November, 1948, were spoiled while in transit from B.C. to Tasmania.

During the trial it came out that spoilage was due to an open storm valve which caused the ship's No. 3 hold to flood. Mr. Justice Coady said the two shipping concerns would have to make good the loss.

The shipping firms then brought action against Burrard Drydock Co. Ltd., since the Waitomo had undergone a four-month overhaul at that company's shipyard just before its voyage to the Antipodes.

When this action came before Mr. Justice Coady, he held that "the act of negligence which was the immediate and effective cause of the damage was the Third Party's negligence."

"Third Party" referred to the drydock company. In bringing down this finding, the judge held that the shipyard should pay the two shipping firms to recompense them for what they had to pay in the first instance to the newsprint firm.

Britain Breeds Healthier Race, Doctor Claims

Modern British children are healthier under the national health scheme than before its inception, according to Doctor J. F. McCrory, professor of pediatrics at the University of British Columbia.

He was answering a question on this point after a talk to a capacity audience at the Victoria College Normal School Monday night. An authority on child care, he said this may be the result of wartime rationing. He reasoned that though the national fare was very limited it was planned so as to include the greatest amount of nutrition.

His lecture entitled "Canadian Children Are Lucky," was sponsored by the Victoria University Extension Association. He compared infant mortality rates of 100 years ago with those of today.

In Germany a century ago 40 per cent of new babies died in infancy; today the figure has shrunk to 11 per cent, he disclosed. In Canada the death rate for children under one year is 4 per cent; in B.C. 3 per cent; in Victoria, only 2 per cent.

FEED FOR BABIES
The most important reasons for the decline in these deaths have to do with milk. In earlier days in Europe, if a mother was unable to nurse her child, wine and beer were substituted. More babies survived when goats' milk was introduced; but the greatest life-saving came about through boiling of milk, the doctor stated.

Many of the diseases that commonly claimed infant lives, only 11.9 per cent of those affected die. Pneumonia had dropped from a 60 per cent killer to 1/2 per cent. New drugs have been largely responsible, he added. Rickets, the deforming disease, virtually has been eradicated.

The future of child care lies in prevention of disease, he maintained, and quoted "The physician who cures diseases is a clever man. The physician who prevents disease is a wise man."

He also listed coeliac disease, jaundice, smallpox, diphtheria and several heart diseases as now being largely under control.

Menigitis, he said, was 98 per cent fatal in 1946, today

FOUR LOCAL GRIDDERS ATTRACT EASTERN EYES

There is a possibility that four young Victorians will be in training camp of the Montreal Allouettes next football season.

In a letter to the Times sports department, John Warriner, former Oak Bay Gophers coach, has requested that Ken Higgs, Larry Brownlee, Bud French and Wayne Henderson, contact Lew Hayman, Allouette manager, with regard to a possible tryout.

Warriner, who is now at an air force base in St. Jean, Quebec, recommended the four players to Hayman as possible recruits. Hayman was reportedly interested.

Higgs and Brownlee tried out with Regina Roughriders last year.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

WEEK-END IN REVIEW—or has anyone stopped to figure out just how strong the Shamrocks will be this year?

The big word is "IF" . . . If Foul Bay gets an Intercity Lacrosse League franchise and takes Whitey Severson and Jackie Northup along as reported.

... If Norm Baker retires as he has stated he will. . . . If Arnold Ferguson has retired as he has said he has.

Add to those names the fact that Archie Browning is no longer living in the city and that Darrell Popham has joined the RCAF . . . and the rumor that Foul Bay players have pledged that they will stick together regardless of the outcome of their franchise application. . . . Obviously, it makes one wonder.

Incidentally, Alex Macdonald's eyes light up whenever Browning's name creeps into the conversation . . . and with Severson, the proposed coach of the Terriers, a great pal of the Brownings . . . well what would a neutral observer think . . . ? It certainly gives cause for conjecture just as the report that the Shamrocks "will be stronger than ever" leaves much up to the imagination in view of the preceding information.

Then there's the rumor that arena manager Joe Dukowski sought audience with Macdonald on the possibility of utilizing his emporium lacrosse-wise this summer, but was requested by the arena commission not to do so until the Foul Bay application was heard. . . . Joe was only looking for business—business he could yet cater to. . . . And an orchid to manager Ralph Baker of the Shamrocks for his stand-in advising the delegates to judge the case on its merits, nothing else. . . . Blair Cook is the money behind Nanaimo this season, so watch for an improvement in the Native Sons. . . .

Kins and Alberni Athletics are up to their old basketball tricks as they draw near to the Island playoffs. . . . This series could be as bitterly fought as in other years and certainly will deserve the support of local cage fans. . . . And, no wonder some critics seek a change in the baseball hall of fame voting . . . some writers this year voted for the late Harry Heilmann and Paul Waner, who were elected last year.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS: There is only one drinking fountain in Athletic Park . . . longest major league baseball game in history took place between Dodgers and Braves, May 1, 1920 . . . the game was halted by darkness with the score tied 1-1.

Victoria Cougars actually are no worse off pointwise than they were at the same time last year and it should be obvious that the teams they have to beat (and that means defeat those particular clubs) are New Westminster, Tacoma and Seattle, all of whom are below .500 . . . the injury hex has had its toll and this week should see the club back at its peak in manpower. . . . it could make a decided difference to the club's fortune if Eddie Mazur shows anything resembling the form he was beginning to exhibit when he underwent the knife . . . still the club must win on the road . . . that's the one big problem and it must be overcome if they are to salvage even minor glory from what so far is a dismal season. . . .

Sport magazine picks Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia A's as the "man of the year" in sports, but Robin Roberts gets the "top performer" award in the diamond sport . . . in boxing it's Rocky Marciano; golf, Julius Boros; tennis, Frank Sedgman; and for hoop fans there's good reading in the Saturday Evening Post on Johnny O'Brien who likes baseball better than basketball.

P.S. The Cougars have reportedly received a final "NO" from the Seattle Ironmen on their attempt to purchase Rudy Filion and Joe Bell. The deal had been hanging fire for three weeks.

Baseball in the Air—Tye Ticket Plan Set

They're off and running up at Athletic Park—the ticket pushers that is, not the ball players.

With the Western International Baseball League season creeping slowly closer, officials of the Victoria Tyes are starting a campaign to assure that seats will be filled when Cec Garriott brings the 1953 defending champions home to roost, April 23.

Business manager Reg Patterson has stated that advance sale of tickets will start Wednesday and that a small army of high school students will again be enlisted to sell the ducats.

The tickets will be sold in books of 11 tickets each for the price of 10 tickets. Students selling four books will receive a season student ticket and a chance at five prizes which will be given to the top seller.

The top male and female huxter will each receive a suit of clothes. Second prize is a mantle radio while the next two prizes are a baseball glove or six pairs of nylon stockings. Students wishing to sell tickets may pick them up at the ball park every afternoon except Saturdays between 3 and 5. Contest ends April 23.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., won the $10,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament Monday, shooting a one-under-par 70 for a 72-hole score of 272.

This was Mangrum's third tournament triumph in five events this year. He won $2,000 at this one.

Bo Winniger, Oklahoma City, who was four strokes back of Mangrum going into the final 18 holes, suffered a bad nine and wound up with a 72 for 278 and a tie with Johnny Bulla of Pittsburgh and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y. The latter two had 66's.

Veteran Vic Ghezzi, Inwood, N.Y., was next at 279 with a last-round 69.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Eddie Lebaron, 23-year-old former Marine who made an amazing football comeback after suffering serious injuries in the Korean war, was named the most courageous athlete of 1952 by Philadelphia sports writers Monday night.

The 165-pound quarterback for Washington Redskins of the National Football League got the award at the sports writers' 49th annual banquet.

Also honored were Bobby Shantz, Philadelphia Athletics' pint-sized pitcher, as the outstanding athlete of the year, and Donn Moomaw of UCLA as the lineman of the year.

Here's What Happens To Grey Cup Receipts

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's greatest sports spectacle, the Grey Cup football final, realized total gate receipts of nearly $135,000 in 1952. It was announced Saturday. This sum, obtained from a record crowd of 27,391, was split among the two competing teams, the other six professional football clubs in Canada, the Canadian Rugby Union, the government, and payment of expenses.

It does not include $15,000 for television, radio, film and program rights. The CBC paid $7,500 to televise the game. It cost radio $3,500 and movie makers another $3,000. The program concession netted $1,000.

The government's tax slice amounted to $14,692. Of the remaining $117,243, expenses amounted to about $45,000 and the clubs split the balance of $72,243.

The champion Toronto Argonauts received $19,962, about 35 per cent of the eastern league's share of $36,772. The other three clubs each got about $5,253.

Edmonton Eskimos, losers on the Grey Cup scoreboard, did almost as well financially in the division of spoils. They received 50 per cent of the West's share of about $35,000. The rest was evenly divided among the other clubs in the league.

BROOKLYN—Joey Giambra, 155½, Buffalo, N.Y., outpointed Danny Bong, 151½, Chicago, 10.

QUÉBEC—Henry Papp, 140½, Spaulding, R.C., outpointed Charlie Debow, 119½, Brooklyn, 10.

Arrows, Aces Win, But Kids Hog Show

Vampires In First Cage Victory

Vampires 50, St. Louis College 43
Arrows 35, Chinese Students 30
Butler's Aces 48, Vets 46

It may not be the time to bring it up right now, what with the Senior B Men's Basketball League play-offs supposedly hogging top billing, but a couple of juvenile boys' teams got together Monday night for one of the rip-snortingest hoop-de-dos you ever saw.

Billed as the early preliminary to the senior B playoffs at Victoria High School, Vampires and St. Louis College ran their legs off to the hips before Vampires pulled out a stirring 50-43 victory to go one up on their best-of-three playoff.

What made the victory even sweeter for Vampires was the fact that it was their first victory of the season, the collegians having beaten them eight straight times in the two-team league schedule.

College was hurt deeply by the absence of starry Ron Martin who broke his wrist two weeks ago and was not allowed to play, although dressed for the game.

College held a seemingly safe 26-18 lead at the half but the Vampires refused to believe the scoreboard and roared back to snatch the fat-out-of-the-fire in the last quarter.

Referees Bob Webster and Noel Andrews wisely let the exuberant kids play the rugged type contest they wanted with-out too many whistle symphonies and the players and small crowd present ate it up.

LITTLE TO CHOOSE

In the men's B playoffs, a pair of close and ragged games gave little indication as to which clubs are going to emerge from the two-game total-point semi-final series with whole skins.

Arrow Furniture did not have the easy time they expected but still emerged on the heavy end of a 35-30 score after their clash with Chinese Students.

Veterans of France blew a halftime 23-18 lead to the spirals but upthodox Butler's Aces and the Aces cashed in for a tight 48-46 victory.

The same teams meet Wednesday night at Esquimalt High School, Arrows carrying a five-point edge and Aces two points.

DOUBLE CHECKED

Students turned in a tight checking job in their effort to halt Arrows' keeping a double check on Arrows' lanky postman Ernie Fox.

The formula almost worked but Arrows' superior height allowed them to control the ball in spite of the tenacious checking.

Arrows held a slender 17-14 lead at the intermission and pulled into a 26-20 edge at three-quarters. Students were hit hard in the last quarter when they lost scoring ace Reggie Derr on five fouls.

Derr's 12 points topped the Reggie while Fox and Bernie Sam of Students put on a great rebounding battle.

Although they had only two spares on the bench, Aces outlasted Veterans of France who held a 13-9 advantage at the end of the first quarter and a 23-18 half-time lead.

BRYANT HITS

Joe Bryant found the range for 10 of his 12 points in the second half and it was two of his foul shots in the waning moments of the game that put it on ice as the desperate Vets were unable to get their hands on the ball.

Aces' Whitey Turner hooped 15 points to take scoring honours.

Line-ups follow:

Vampires: Mathew 12, McKay 5, McMeekin 3, De Cadeo 4, Whan 11, Murray 1, Thompson 2, Hughes 3.

Gallant Draws Season's Suspension

Pint-sized Jimmy Gallant of Individual Cleaners has been suspended for the rest of the season for attacking referee Leo Ornest during a Commercial Hockey League contest Monday, Jan. 19.

Doug Fletcher, league president, announced the suspension Monday night.

Endeavouring to try and put an end to attacks on referees, officials unanimously passed a motion that league officers shall have the power of imposing a fine, not exceeding $50, on any club whose player or players are found guilty of attacking a referee.

The fine will be deducted from that club's share of the gate receipts.

Marciano Named Year's Top Pro

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano received the $10,000 Ray Hickok belt as "professional athlete of the year" in 1952 at the Rochester Press Radio Club dinner Monday night.

Hickok presented the prize belt with its solid gold buckle and 26 diamonds to the 28-year-old slugger from Brockton, Mass.

Marciano, unbeaten in 43 fights with 38 knockouts, broke the grip of baseball in the pro competition. Phil Rizzuto, New York Yankee shortstop, won the first award in 1950 and Alie Reynolds, Yankee pitcher, topped Jersey Joe Walcott for the 1951 award.

Jury Unable to Agree In Spivey Cage Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The perjury trial of William Spivey, one-time all-America basketball great from the University of Kentucky, ended early today with the jury unable to agree whether he had a role in the big college sports scandal of two years ago.

The jury of eight men and four women, after deliberating more than 10½ hours, reported itself deadlocked and then was dismissed by Judge Saul S. Streit of general sessions court. The trial began Jan. 14.

While defense lawyers announced they would ask for dismissal of the indictment, there was no indication what district attorney Frank S. Hogan had in mind concerning a possible new trial.

Spivey, seven-foot centre who was the top scoring-ace of the crack University of Kentucky team in 1950-51, issued a statement through his lawyers saying he was "disappointed" that the jury did not return a verdict, but was "satisfied" that a majority of the jurors were for acquittal.

It was learned that the panel had deadlocked at nine-to-three for acquittal.

Of the 32 players at eight schools involved in the college basketball scandal, Spivey, 23, was the only one to stand trial. The others either pleaded guilty or turned state's evidence, but Spivey steadfastly denied ever discussing a "fix" before a game or taking a bribe.

Dorothy Davies Marks Home-Come With Brilliant Comedy Performance

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
"HAY FEVER," by Noel Coward

It is a play in which the rest of the dramatist's personae are simply an ornamental if eccentric frame; setting off the leading lady. Regular members of the York Theatre company which opened "Hay Fever" Monday night for a week's run, supplied that frame skillfully and at moments, brilliantly.

And in Dorothy Davies they had a leading lady who played the part as though it had been written for her. The Vancouver actress whose theatre life began in Victoria, has all the charm and personal magnetism the glamorous "Judith" requires.

No conscious dramatization enters into Miss Davies' performance; although "Judith" dramatizes the simplest human relationship with herself as the focal point. Less talented, less experienced actresses would have made these transitions into emotional and declamatory scenes, abrupt and ludicrously artificial.

Miss Davies gave a scintillating but thoroughly human characterization with beautifully timed transitions; she maintained a light, whimsical quality, keeping the whole performance in key and realizing its full comedy value.

Among the well-matched and able supporting players, Jack Ammon shone brightly, and Diana Ricardo, Michael Rothery and Robert Tabor added extra polish to the total effect.

The large audience that attended the York last night had a "blissful" two-and-a-half hours, judging by the continuous laughter and the frequent spontaneous bursts of applause.

NO STRANGER to Victoria is Mrs. Ethel Ferguson, FTCL, RST, who will adjudicate speech arts at the Greater Victoria Musical Festival April 23 to May 1. Mrs. Ferguson, who is an active member of the Vancouver Little Theatre, was largely responsible for introducing into Canada choric speech (verse-speaking choirs).

Truman To Be Paid $500,000 For Memoirs; Will Lecture

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Former president Harry S. Truman, it may now be disclosed, has been assured of contracts providing him enough money for his future needs and to permit him complete freedom to say and write what he pleases.

In addition, Truman will make periodical, carefully-selected lecture tours.

Details of the agreement are being handled for the former president by Matthew J. Connelly, his top secretary at the White House.

The former president himself has refused to discuss his future, since he has stayed out of the negotiations, but he did set a pattern for the contract. He believes anything he undertakes must be in strict conformity with the dignity of the high office he held.

Truman has turned down more than one $100,000-a-year offer to serve as sales manager for manufacturing and other companies.

Leslie Morris, labor journalist and member of the national executive of the Labor Progressive Party, will speak at a public meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Club Sirocco.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Several hundred farmers have come to town, and I think it is up to every citizen to see that each and every one enjoys himself.

Farmers have such a distressing life during the rest of the year, they are entitled to a little fun and games, and I do hope they will not spend all their Federation of Agriculture time in earnest discussion.

The reason a farmer's life is so distressing, there is always something wrong. For instance, take the weather. The weather is invariably wrong.

When it rains, it is apt to rot the potatoes and the beets and the carrots before they get a chance to mature in the ground.

Of course, when it doesn't rain, it is just as bad, because the soil dries out and the fruit withers on the vine, so to speak.

Sometimes it does rain just the right amount, and there would be cause for rejoicing, except for the trouble with sunshine.

When the sun doesn't shine enough, the tomatoes don't grow nice and red and juicy.

When it shines too much the beans shrivel up and the peas burst their pods and the corn comes ready-popped on the cob.

However, there are occasions when there is just the right amount of rain and sunshine, and everything on the farm grows like billy-o, and there's a bumper crop ready to harvest.

Those are the years when gremlins attack the tractors, the reaper won't reap, the binder won't bind, the corn shucker won't corn shuck—and there isn't a mechanic to be had for love or money for miles around.

Also, there are no hands available to harvest the crop, because everyone has gone to the Big City to make a fortune.

But don't misunderstand: there are years when everything goes right. The weather is perfect for growing, the crop is huge, the harvest hands are ready, willing, and able, the machinery operates smoothly, and the farmer soon has his bins filled to overflowing.

That's the year, of course, when the bottom falls out of the market, and the farmer spends the post-harvest period morosely plowing under surplus spuds.

You can see why I hope all the delegates to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention have a good time. They deserve a chance to kick up their heels.

Incidentally, I note that the farmers are asking for an investigation into the price of meat. They say the producers are not responsible for high prices, and they believe the profit of the middleman should be more in line with that of the meat producer.

I would like to have this explained a little. What is meant by the "profit of the meat producer"?

I never knew a cow yet who had to pay income tax.

Hurried note from Humphry Davy, The Times farm expert: "I herewith disassociate myself completely from any and all statements made by members of the staff other than myself, and am in no way responsible for Mr. Roberts' agricultural anomalies."

City Weatherman Snowed in by Raging Blizzard!

Times artist, Ken Davidson, a sun worshipper, today got even with weatherman for 9.31 inches of rain recorded here to date this year. "I'll turn it all to snow and smother him in the stuff," Davidson snarled, and with a flick of his brush laid seven feet of snow over weather office on Gonzales Hill. Weatherman William Mackie, innocent victim of circumstances, was digging furiously at press time, singing, "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More." (On weather market, one inch of rain equals 10 of snow.)

LAST YEAR'S LOST RAIN FOUND AGAIN

Clouds and showers were forecast for Victoria again today as Jupiter Pluvius continued to give the city all the rain it missed out on last year—apparently all in one month. Weatherman William Mackie said today total rainfall to date this month is 9.31 inches, not far from the all-time January record of 13.28 inches, set in 1935.

Southwest winds of 30 miles per hour are expected to drop off to about 15 miles by midnight, he said, and temperatures will remain in the 36-45-degree range.

Attorney-General Plans to Appeal Harris' Dismissal

The attorney-general's department has launched an appeal against dismissal of a charge of possessing an offensive weapon which was laid last December against Alan Harris of Winnipeg.

Lloyd G. McKenzie, acting for the Crown, filed notice of appeal at the Courthouse this afternoon. Harris was charged with Melvin Cliff of Kirkland Lake, when the two of them were apprehended in a car outside the Hudson's Bay Company store here last Dec. 1.

The pair originally charged with attempted hold-up, but the charge was changed to unlawful possession of an offensive weapon when an automatic pistol was found on Cliff. He pleaded guilty in police court and was sentenced to a jail term but Harris pleaded not guilty and was tried by Judge J. B. Clearhough in Victoria's County Court.

Judge Clearhough dismissed the charge, because he felt there was not sufficient evidence for conviction. At the same time, the judge observed he was "satisfied" that Harris, with Cliff had planned a robbery.

Application for bail was made in County Court chambers by J. J. Proudfoot, Kettle's solicitor. Kettle is charged with having stolen a quantity of fishing tackle from Boden Zuck, of 1527 Camosun Street.

A preliminary hearing was held in Saanich court.

Police Hold Taxi In Hit-Run Case

Miss Pamela Winslow Badly Injured When Struck on Yates Intersection

Police are holding for examination a taxi seized after report of a hit-and-run accident at 6:28 p.m. Monday.

Miss Pamela Winslow, of 1044 Craigdarroch, was seriously injured in the collision at the corner of Camosun and Yates, police report.

Miss Winslow suffered a compound fracture of the lower right leg and a bad cut on the back of the head when she was struck by a car that did not stop.

The daughter of F. E. Winslow, retired Victoria trust company executive, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital. Police said Miss Winslow was crossing Yates at Camosun when struck. It is reported she was in the marked "stop while occupied" zone.

Police started investigations to find a car witnesses said was dark green in color with an illuminated "taxi" sign on top.

Constables Douglas Grant, James Smith and Lester Clark brought a taxi to the station for examination soon after securing the description.

There are a few small dents in front part of the hood and one small dent on the fender back of the headlight, a reporter observed.

Reports that certain types of vending machines are being operated in the city in places used by the public, brought a warning today from police.

Maximum court fine for this offense is $200, and costs.

Britain in Better Position Than U.S. to Mediate European Trouble

Great Britain is in a better position for mediation in Europe than the United States, Max Freedman, of the Winnipeg Free Press, told a joint meeting of Canadian Club and Victoria Kiwanis in the Empress Hotel today.

He pointed out that the U.S. has been so eager to get 12 German divisions to act with NATO forces that "they have applied pressure on France, Belgium and Holland."

"Another reason Britain is in a better mediation position is that she has a bigger defense commitment at present than any other European nation."

Mr. Freedman, who recently returned from a trip which took him to every non-Iron Curtain country in Europe, said there is

—No. 21—The Doctors

Plagues were nothing new to the Elizabethans. Although London was already counted the world's finest city, most of it was a network of foul, plague-ridden alleyways. Here the sick usually died—often attended only by an itinerant quack. Nevertheless, in London two licensed bodies were making headway. It was

Elizabeth who, in 1566, granted the College of Physicians the right to carry out human dissections. Fellows of the college could be fined if they refused to attend anatomy demonstrations. And at the Barbers' Hall an articulated skeleton made its appearance before students. The revolutionary influence of the Renaissance was at last being felt in the world of medicine. But for most citizens there was only the apothecary, who sold his drugs without control. Often he dealt in death as much as in health. Here the murderer could as openly buy his poison as the sick could buy useless drugs to cure an excess of "humor." This trade was closely allied to superstition.

Rivals' Huge Crop Benefit to Canada

400,000 MEMBERS

Canadian Farmers Set Policy Here

Victoria became the nation's farming capital today with the opening of the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture at the Empress Hotel.

Delegates representing some 400,000 farmers across Canada got down to the business of framing a "national policy" for the farming industry which will effect every phase of agriculture in the forthcoming year.

The convention was opened by H. H. Hannam, president of the federation.

Highlight of the opening session was an address by Federal Agriculture Minister James G. Gardiner, who outlined the expansion of the farming industry since the end of the Second World War.

He told farmers they had enjoyed a good market for their goods in Canada due mainly to an increase of population of about 2,000,000 and the increased purchasing power of Canadians.

Hon. Kenneth Kiernan, provincial minister of agriculture, welcomed the delegates to the province.

Other speakers included W. J. Parker, Winnipeg, and J. A. Marion, Montreal, the federation's first and second vice-presidents, respectively. Reports were also received from various farm commodity groups.

EGG MEN MEET

Prior to the annual convention, poultry raisers met behind closed doors to discuss a resolution for a floor price on eggs and poultry. This will be discussed on the floor of the convention on Wednesday.

Hog raisers also met to discuss ways and means of boosting the sale of pork in Canada. Chief concern of the farm groups at the convention was the dwindling trade between Great Britain and Canada.

Among resolutions to be submitted to the floor of the convention is one for the removal of the federal 10 per cent sales tax on all materials purchased for irrigation projects.

The farmers also want all water resources development—which would have an effect on soils or soil conservation—to be under the control of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

Other resolutions call for reduced freight rates for agricultural products, a disaster loan program which would permit a farmer to stand on his own feet if he suffered losses due to floods, drought, storm or insect damage.

Federal Minister Explains Anomaly Where Competition Pays Big Profit

Canadian wheat growers will receive 35 cents more per bushel for 12,000,000 bushels of wheat this year because Australia's crop is greater than expected, and Britain wishes to buy 12,000,000 extra bushels of Australian wheat.

This apparent anomaly was explained by Hon. James G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, in an interview today at the Empress Hotel, where he is attending the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention.

The 12,000,000 bushels are outside the International Wheat Agreement, which set a price of $1.80 per bushel on a quota of 115,000,000 bushels. Since the agreement, Mr. Gardiner said, Australia's crop exceeded expectations, and Britain decided to purchase more Australian wheat, and ask Canada to cut her IWA quota.

"However, Britain will still buy the same amount of wheat from us," he explained. "But, because she can purchase Australian wheat in the sterling area, she feels she can afford to pay the non-IWA price of $2.15 a bushel for 12,000,000 bushels, and still save money."

ECONOMIST'S PUZZLE

With the quick grin which is his trademark, Mr. Gardiner added, "I sometimes think that, from this, a good economist could show the fallacy of the system."

He recalled a speech he made in Britain some years ago. "I said then that I think my old Scottish college professor was right when he said he'd rather trust gold as a control than the opinions of any bunch of crackpots who might be appointed."

"Unfortunately, after my speech, some people thought I meant the government—which, of course, I didn't," he added quickly.

Canada's agricultural marketing problems are still mired with wheat and cattle, plus, to a smaller dollar extent, apples, he said.

"Our only market for cattle is the United States. This should soon be active again. I do not believe there is any possibility that the U.S. embargo will extend beyond March 1."

Referring to Canada's surplus pork, he said that between

IT'S NICE IN VICTORIA WASN'T IT?

Two unhappy ladies were scheduled to board the afternoon steamer from Victoria to Vancouver today.

They are Mrs. James G. Gardiner, wife of the federal minister of agriculture, and his secretary, Miss Mary Walker.

Their complaint: not enough time to see and shop in Victoria.

Miss Walker was especially disappointed at the brief stay here, as it was her first visit to Victoria.

"I wanted to see this wonderful city I'd heard so much about," she said, "and now I have to turn right around and go back again."

The Gardiner party which arrived on the morning boat must catch the night train out of Vancouver to meet commitments in Winnipeg. A special RCAF plane will fly Mr. Gardiner to the mainland in time to make the train.

20,000,000 and 25,000,000 pounds have been sold.

The pork was canned so it would not have to be put into storage. "We are constantly trying to sell it."

Mr. Gardiner—recognized as one of the most accomplished politicians in his party—had little to say about politics. "We're coming close to another election," he said. "How close, I don't know, except that it will have to be by 1954."

Asked if he felt that Prime Minister St. Laurent had decided when he would like to hold the election, Mr. Gardiner said, "Perhaps. But knowing when you would like an election and when you can have one are two different things."

He felt that the party organization across the country was in "pretty fair shape" and ready for an election test.

Judge Rules Lawyer Got Timber by Fraud

East Indian's Holdings Sold; Alleged Payments Called 'Loans'

A judgment against city lawyer E. H. M. Foot for having "fraudulently set up his right" to certain timber in the Highlands District, near Victoria, was rendered Monday by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane of B.C. Supreme Court.

The judge held that B. John, an East Indian, who went to Foot in connection with the timber rights, was entitled to judgment in the sum of $1,800, plus $159.90, plus costs, but less $120 which Foot paid him over a period of time.

John, a man unable to read or write, obtained the timber rights in question in December, 1933, from three other East Indians.

Foot entered the picture at that time. He paid $45 to John. He paid other small sums to a real estate agent until May 10, 1934. Total payments came to $120.

During the trial, heard in November, 1951, John claimed these payments were loans. Foot claimed they were payments on account for purchase of the timber.

JUDGE'S RULING

On this point, Mr. Justice Macfarlane held in his judgment: "I have come to the conclusion that the relationship of solicitor and client existed between the defendant and plaintiff at the time of the transaction. The defendant was a solicitor apparently making small loans to the plaintiff from time to time.

"The nature of the payments does not indicate that they were bona fide payments on the purchase of the timber. If the defendant had wanted to buy the timber, I do not think he had to do so by making payments of $15 and $25 from time to time."

The judge said further: "It is well settled that where a solicitor purchases property from his client, he must be prepared to satisfy the court that the client was fully informed, and that he had competent independent advice and that the price given was a fair one.

"Considering the burden that rests on a solicitor in such circumstances, I do not think the defendant has met the responsibility that lies upon him. I am therefore forced to the conclusion that the plaintiff did

This New Loaf Cake Tin Has Dozen and One Uses

By PENNY SAVER

Found a tin this morning which seems to have been made with the idea of using it for everything but washing dishes. It is called a loaf cake pan and has a lid which slides into place. Why they named the pan for this particular use I haven't figured out because some data accompanying it went on to say that it is ideal for carrying cake, seals moisture and prevents drying.

It is also suggested you use it for a bun warmer, refrigerator pan, baking tin, fish freezer or lunch kit. The pan will also serve as a lunch kit, for use on picnics and for carrying or storing salads and fresh fruit.

Large size sells for $2.75 and a smaller one which takes a ready-mix cake is priced at $2.49.

From Belgium comes enamel-coated cast-iron ware, including frying pans, sauce pans, covered casseroles and many other pieces for preparing food. They are priced from $2.50 to $7.50.

Another new item I came across in my travels this morning was a small circle to place in your frying pan to do eggs separately. This circle has a lid which covers the egg but leaves the other foods uncovered.

You can either poach or fry your eggs and you'll be amazed at how this method improves the flavor. Sells for $1.49.

Did you know they now have snag-proof zippers on the market? No more worries about snags and catches. Just a flick of the finger opens and replaces removable slider.

They are being demonstrated in one of the local department stores. You really should drop along and see how they operate. The zippers come in 13 colors for a perfect match. Six-inch size sells at 35 pennies; seven-inch, 35 cents; nine-inch, 40 cents; 10-inch, 45 cents; and 12-inch, 45 cents.

AS WE LIVE

Unnecessary Overcrowding Is Harmful to Children, Family

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When people live in cramped quarters, they sooner or later get on each other's nerves. What this young wife can do about the overcrowding of her home is her problem.

(Q)—"I have two small children and I need your advice. My husband's sister has been living with us for nearly two years. I think it's about time that she lived some place else. The two children have been sleeping in the same room with my husband and me and it's much too crowded. We had to do this because we gave their room to my sister-in-law. She has no boy friend or plans for marriage whatever and living with another woman is getting on my nerves. Please tell me how I can tell her to look elsewhere to live."

(A)—You do not say whether or not your sister-in-law is working and what source of income she has. If she is working and wants to live with you, she should contribute enough to the upkeep of the home that you could afford to get a larger place and thus give your children a room of their own.

If, however, she is not working, it is time that she did. It is not fair to you, your husband, or your children to have her under foot all the time and forcing the family to double-up so that she may have a room of her own.

Your children cannot get the proper sleep if they are with you and your husband. No matter how quietly you go to bed at night, you are sure to arouse them. Furthermore, children should have a room of their own where they can keep their toys and play quietly. Ideally, each of your children should have a room, even if a very small one.

As for telling your sister-in-law, I think the direct approach will work best. Simply inform her that the children are too old to share a room with you and that the time has come when they must have a room of their own. Then put the proposition to her: either contribute more to the home so that you can get larger quarters or move elsewhere so that the children can have the room she now occupies.

Dr. Hurlock will help you with family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Industrial School, Red Cross, TV Discussed at PT Council

Fifty-nine members representing 21 associations, and several visitors were present at a general meeting of Victoria and District PT Council, held with Mrs. L. Moutray in the chair.

The council requested associations to write their MLA's supporting the building of an adequate industrial school for boys, to support the junior Red Cross drive in February, to attend the Red Cross clinic and donate blood, "as the need is great."

An unanimous vote was recorded in favor of control of possible importation of TV programs to be shown during the time when children are most likely to be watching.

Mrs. T. H. Kelly and Mrs. S. Jones are co-chairmen of the folk festival to be arranged during coronation week and plans were discussed to have a hall where stalls may be set up, representing handicrafts of various national groups. A program of dances, songs and sports, reflecting native cultures is also planned. Information will be given through B 2388.

It was announced that a school of instruction committee included A. G. Hemming, Mrs. F. B. F. Nicholson and Mrs. A. B. Thompson.

Mrs. A. Taylor reported on PT radio programs; Mrs. E. Wills, regarding gavelled from the maple tree at the old historic Craigflower School. L. York, Tillicum PTA, sang several solos and refreshments were served under the sponsorship of Mrs. A. H. Smith, Frank Hobbs PTA.

Flower Arrangement

Miss Kate Ede will present a flower arrangement course at the Victoria Arts Centre, Moss Street, from Feb. 6 to March 27, every Friday between 2 and 4. The instructor has taught floral art for several years at night school and formerly conducted classes in this subject under the dominion-provincial youth training scheme. The course will be presented in the nature of a workshop and will deal with types of arrangements, color harmony, design, selection and use of materials, receptacles and holders, with application to interior decoration for home, church, hall and sick room.

Indoor gardening will also be considered as a practical and interesting hobby.

Visitors Entertained At Institute Luncheon

Traditional culinary skills, organizing ability and hospitality of Island Women's Institutes were evident at a luncheon arranged Monday by members of South Saanich, Royal Oak and Lake Hill for wives of delegates attending the Canadian Federation of Agriculture conference here this week.

The affair took place at headquarters of Lake Hill, oldest of B.C. institutes. Thirty guests, many from snowbound sections of the Dominion, attended the luncheon. Totem placecards, dainty messages of fresh forsythia, snowdrops, mimosa and heather, representing in their gold, white and green the B.C. institute colors, decorated the tables, also novelty candles dressed in whorls of stiff muslin to represent fairy-like trees.

OFFICIAL HOSTESS
Mrs. Stella Gummow, superintendent of provincial institutes, as official hostess had with her at the head table the presidents of the three hostess institutes: Mrs. R. F. Myles, Lake Hill; Mrs. Brian Hoole, Royal Oak; and Mrs. W. H. McNally, representing the president of South Saanich.

Mrs. W. S. Webster, agricultural representative, welcomed guests on behalf of the three institutes. Mrs. Gummow and Mrs. Myles spoke briefly, and representatives of widely-separated sections of Canada expressed appreciation of the hospitality. These speakers were Mrs. George A. Weir, provincial chairman of the women's committee of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture; Mrs. G. N. McConnell of Manitoba, and Mrs. W. G. Taylor of Alberta. Mrs. Weir recalled that Adelaide Hoodless who in 1897 founded the Women's Institutes of Canada, like herself belonged to Brooke County, Ontario.

LUNCHEON PLANS

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Former Editor in Victoria

Mrs. Miriam Green Ellis, who retired early this month as western editor of the Family Herald and Weekly Star, after 25 years in that position, is a visitor in Victoria at present, from Winnipeg, staying at the Empress Hotel. She is covering meetings of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture for her paper and following this assignment expects to spend a short time in the city.

Young Torontonian a Visitor

Miss W. Jean Fewster, the "Marie Fraser" food editor of Dairy Foods Service Bureau, Toronto, has been in Victoria for a short visit, a guest at the Empress Hotel. She left by plane for Ontario today. Miss Fewster, who came to the Pacific coast to attend the Dairy Farmers of Canada convention in Vancouver last week, has combined business with pleasure in her brief visit to this city. She has contacted radio and newspaper editors in connection with her bureau work and also spent some time with her uncle and aunt, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Macgregor Macintosh, at their home in Queenswood.

In Vancouver she visited her cousin, Mrs. Bruce Boyd, the former Miss Jane Macintosh, and her husband.

Return to City to Live

Dr. E. C. Hoodless with Mrs. Hoodless and their two sons, Harold and David, have returned to Victoria to make their home. They have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Manning, Ripon Road, the Uplands, for a short time and have now moved to their new home on Musgrave Street. Dr. and Mrs. Hoodless have been away from this city for three and a half years, while the doctor has been taking post-graduate work in orthopedic surgery.

Series of Pre-Nuptial Parties

Mr. and Mrs. George Laird will entertain at an after-five party in their Orchard Avenue home Wednesday to honor Miss Roma Dorman and her fiancé, Mr. Richard Bais, and for Mr. and Mrs. E. Watchorn, who are leaving shortly to spend a month's holiday in Honolulu. Guests will number 40.

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Meares will honor the affianced couple at a dinner party in their Esquimalt Road home. Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. A. Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Harris.

Gathering to honor the bride-elect at a no-host luncheon in the Victoria Golf Club Saturday will be Mrs. Gordon Harris, Mrs. H. G. Meares, Mrs. George Laird, Mrs. M. G. Gillespie, Mrs. Arthur Harvey, Mrs. R. S. Dyer, Mrs. Arch L. Pidgeon, Mrs. W. Usher, Mrs. S. R. Weston, Mrs. C. Bernard, Mrs. Keith Dorman, Miss Betty Blakeney and Miss Ruth Norton.

Mrs. Elza Mayhew will be hostess at a luncheon in her Musgrave Street home next Tuesday to honor Miss Dorman. Guests will number eight.

Capt. and Mrs. Kenneth Dyer and Mrs. Dyer's sister, Miss Ann Spencer, have returned to Halifax following a holiday in Havana. In April, Capt. and Mrs. Dyer are expected on the west coast, where Capt. Dyer will be commanding officer of HMCS Naden, at Esquimalt.

Senior regent Mrs. C. Vasher-esse and members of Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of Moose, were hostesses to visiting members attending the mid-winter conference last week-end, at a tea in the Empress Hotel on Saturday afternoon. Friendship chairman Mrs. E. Elliott presided at the tea table.

El Salvador Pictured for Women's Club

Informality marked the interesting talk, illustrated with color slides, given by Deputy Minister of Lands George Melville, at supper meeting of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, Monday evening, in the clubroom.

Mr. Melrose spoke on the seven months he spent in El Salvador as head of a mission sent out by United Nations at the request of that country to assist in bringing more up-to-date methods in health, education and the development of natural resources, coffee, sugar cane and cotton, to the people. The clear, well-balanced and artistic pictures, of the these people, the countryside, the cities and the towns, added much to the lecture. A lively discussion period followed.

Mr. Melrose was introduced by Mrs. Mary Webb and thanked by Mrs. Mabel Curry.

The president, Mrs. Bessie Smith, presided at the supper meeting and introduced the following guests, Miss Margaret Cross, a member of the Calgary club, now living in Victoria, Mrs. Verna Walsh, Mrs. G. Webster, Miss Valentine Wallace and Miss M. Renton. Mrs. Eileen Fitz announced that a card party for members and their friends will be held in

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

Radio times and programs are furnished by stations and are subject to "last-minute" changes. The Times assumes no responsibility for inaccurate listings.

Within a year, 100,000 men had surged out of every state in the Union. Their destination was California, their objective gold.

Also converging on the state were Russians,
Mexicans, Hawaiians, Australians and the scum of the South Pacific penal colonies. With the support of the colorful, "James King of William," Coleman became leader of a vigilante committee of 13, created to act against the lawless who brought the area to the edge of anarchy and disaster.

The drama reaches its climax peak when King is murdered. Coleman's committee of 13 moves against the ruthless to return government of the state to the hands of the people.

A Hollywood resident is going to be surprised when he finds a man attempting to hang wall paper in his living room because he won't know it's a contestant from "People Are Funny" heard on KIRO at 7.

Completely equipped with overalls, a bucket of paste and a roll of atrocious wall paper, the man is instructed by emcee Art Linkletter to go as far as he can before the resident puts a stop to his activities.

TONIGHT'S HIGHLIGHTS: Music - Hollywood Music Hall with Lucille Norman on KIRO at 7.30. Comedy - Martin and Lewis Show with guest Tony Curtis on KOMO at 9. My Friend Irma makes some money and almost loses it all on the My Friend Irma Show on KIRO at 6.30. Politics - Nation's Business on CBU at 8.

Of course, emptying the mind is not enough. When the mind is emptied, something is bound to enter. The mind cannot remain a vacuum. You cannot go around permanently with an empty mind. I admit that some people seem to accomplish that feat, but by and large it is necessary to refill the emptied mind or the old, unhappy thoughts which you have cast out will come sneaking in again.

To prevent that happening, immediately start filling your mind with creative and healthy thoughts. Then when the old fears, hates, and worries that have haunted you for so long try to edge back in, they will in effect find a sign on the door of your mind reading "occupied." They may struggle for admission, for having lived in your mind for a long time, they feel at home there. But the new and healthy thoughts which you have taken in will now be stronger and better fortified, and therefore able to repulse them. Presently the old thoughts will give up altogether and leave you alone.

At intervals during the day practice thinking a carefully selected series of peaceful thoughts. Let mental pictures of the "most peaceful scenes you have ever witnessed pass across your mind, as for example, some beautiful valley filled with the hush of evening time, as the shadows lengthen and sun sinks to rest. Or recall the silvery light of the moon falling upon rippling waters, or remember the sea washing gently upon soft shores of sand. Such peaceful thought images will work upon your mind as a healing medicine.

Practice the technique of suggestive articulation, that is, repeat audibly some peaceful words. Words have profound suggestive power, and there is healing in the very saying of them. Utter a series of panicky words and your mind will immediately go into a mild state of nervousness.

Quiet Words Have Healing Power

If, on the contrary, you speak peaceful, quieting words, your mind will react in a peaceful manner. Use such a word as "tranquility." Repeat that word slowly several times. Tranquility is one of the most beautiful and melodic of all English words, and the mere saying of it tends to induce a tranquil state.

Another healing word is "serenity." Picturize serenity as you say it. Repeat it slowly and in the mood of which the word is a symbol. Words such as these have a healing potency when used in this manner.

It is also helpful to use lines from poetry or passages from the Scriptures. A man of my acquaintance who achieved a remarkable peace of mind has the habit of writing on cards unusual quotations expressing peacefulness. He carries one of the cards in his wallet at all times, referring to it frequently until each quotation is committed to memory. He says that each such idea dropped into the subconscious "lubricates" his mind with peace. A peaceful concept is indeed oil on troubled thoughts. One of the quotations which he used is from a 16th-century mystic, "Let nothing disturb you. Let nothing frighten you. Everything passes away except God. God alone is sufficient."

The words of the Bible have a particularly strong therapeutic value. "Drop them into your mind, allowing them to 'dis-solve' in consciousness, and they will spread a healing balm over your entire mental structure. This is one of the simplest processes to perform and also one of the most effective in attaining peace of mind.

Man Seriously Injured In One of Four Crashes

CAMPBELL RIVER — Clement Sauer, accountant, was taken to Lourdes Hospital early Monday morning suffering a broken hip and shock received in a head-on collision between two cars at Willow Point, six miles south of here.

The accident was the worst of four in the district Monday. Peter Zanatta, driver of one car, escaped with only a cut lip but his car, covered by insurance, was badly damaged. Sauer's car, not insured, was a complete wreck.

James Nickolaissen was uninjured but his car suffered serious damage when it ran off the road at 6 a.m. near the police station.

Young Musicians To Give Recitals In Series Here

Star pupils and graduate students of Victoria members of the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association will be heard in a series of three recitals at the Arts Centre here.

The first 45-minute program takes place Sunday, Feb. 1 and will feature pianist Carol Wootton, 1255 Victoria; pianist Lorraine Brand, 824 Richmond, and vocalists, Mrs. Clegency Perrins, 2796 Burdick.

The 3 p.m. recitals will present other local artists on the following two Sundays.

Art Centre curator, Colin Graham, said today the program serves three purposes. Young music students will have a free medium of public expression, the Arts Centre will be better known as a headquarters for all artistic fields and the public will enjoy excellent free entertainment.

HOME GARDEN

BY HILDA BEASTALL

Do these mild winter days generate the urge to get "something" started for the garden?

Even though busy with greenhouse work, I also feel that I want to make a start on outdoor planting. One must remember, however, that three months must elapse before many of the bedding annuals may safely be put into flowering positions.

A simple cold frame is almost essential to the gardener wishing to raise a few early annuals, so that the small plants may be grown along in flats as cool as possible. An unheated porch with good light, however, may be used successfully.

Some annuals take much longer to attain flowering size than others. Included in this group are the Snapdragon, Lobelia and Verbena. These should be sown without delay, in order to be sure of their blooming during the early summer.

Keeping the soil continually moist, without being saturated, is probably the greatest factor in promoting germination. A sheet of paper, or one of glass and one of paper over the seed container will prevent drying out during this period. If further moisture is needed, stand container in water to half its depth, allowing it to soak until the surface soil is darkened.

Prick out the seedlings just as soon as they can be handled, even though that may be before any true leaves appear. From then on you can literally watch them grow. Begin to give them more air, in preparation for the time when you will transfer them to the cold frame.

These three annuals are hardy to cold, though Lobelia is somewhat less so than the others. Keeping frost from them is all that is necessary, once they are established. They will be ready to make rapid advancement, while in the cold frame, with the increased daylight and sun power of March. Planted into permanent positions in late April, any light frost after that date will have little or no effect, providing the plants have been gradually hardened to outside conditions while still in the cold frame.

I have had Snaps in bloom in the garden by the end of May from a late January sowing, with continuous display through August.

ROYAL NOW SHOWING

Each year a whole new group of people develop a disease known as shingles or herpes zoster. This is a peculiar condition and if one must have it, it would be best to do so while still comparatively young—if one could have a choice. In the elderly it is too likely to lead to miserable and long-continued pain.

In all probability, shingles results from a virus infection. For some peculiar reason this virus attacks the nerve roots of the nerves of feeling. It is also for some strange reason almost invariably on one side of the body only.

The first sign of the disease is generally pain or a burning sensation on one side of the body. Tingling or other peculiar sensations are frequent. It is common around the chest, the hips, the abdomen and the face. Serious complications occur if it affects the eyes.

After a few days of these sensations, blisters appear on the skin. But it is not really a skin disease. When several days have passed the blisters burst and dry up, finally leaving altogether.

Herpes may come with or immediately after acute infections like pneumonia or meningitis; it can come in epidemics or without any cause which can be identified.

There seems to be some relation between herpes and chickenpox. Small epidemics of herpes have arisen at the same time as epidemics of chickenpox. Occasionally a person will develop chickenpox from contact with a patient with shingles. This is a most interesting relationship.

NO SPECIFIC REMEDY

Many different kinds of treatment have been used for shingles. Soothing lotions or other preparations help a little. X-rays have been used with variable success. Antibiotics also may have some value. But there is no truly specific remedy.

In elderly people herpes is often a particularly serious thing because it hangs on so long. When nothing else seems to work, cutting the nerve by surgery may have to be considered. Older people with nerve pain following shingles deserve our heartfelt sympathy.

DUNCAN—On their annual tour of North Cowichan roads on Monday, Reeve A. E. Beasley and councillors found all roads in good condition, and are expected to prepare a road budget somewhat lower than the $130,000 allowed last year.

DUNCAN—J. E. Garner, construction firm executive and logging operator, almost drove his car over a 60-foot bank into the Cowichan River Saturday near Sahtlam, nine miles west of here. Heavy rains and a slight rise in the road obscured a washout that had occurred, but Mr. Garner managed to stop his car on the brink of the cliff.

PORT ALBERNI—Work has begun on the demolition of the Rogers Creek bridge between the twin cities in preparation for a new steel and concrete structure to cost $27,944. Traffic between the two centres will use the Gertrude Street bridge for the next two months.

DUNCAN—John Sandys Wunsch, Queen's Scout of the Quamichan Troop, will be one of three B.C. Scouts in the group of 32 from Canada that will attend the Coronation. He is now a student at Victoria College.

NANAIMO—Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. MP, has informed the city council that expenditures of about $841,000 at Nanaimo have been submitted to the treasury board for inclusion in 1953 estimates. They are $568,000 for assembly wharf extension, $213,000 for harbor dredging, $48,000 for road construction at the Pacific Biological Station, and smaller sums for waterfront repairs and maintenance.

NANAIMO—Warren F. Courtenay, who pleaded not guilty Monday to charges of impaired driving and assaulting a police officer, was released on $250 bail. He will appear in police court Feb. 3.

Busy With the Bearskins

More than 3,000 bearskin shakos are being fashioned in Michael Silbertson's clothing factory, in London's suburban Bethnal Green. They will be worn by the towering members of the Brigade of Guards as they march in the Coronation parade in June. Silbertson, whose grandfather made bearskin hats for the Imperial troops of the last Russian czar, will cut all of the skins himself. Employees, above, begin to form the hats on wood frames.

Duties Yield Colossal Sum For Britain

BY EDWIN S. JOHNSON
LONDON (CP)—The British exchequer was enriched by a record income of $4,818,000,000 in customs and excise levies during the financial year which ended last March.

This colossal yield, disclosed in detail in a government report issued recently, not only tops all previous figures but is an increase of $335,500,000 over the 1950-51 revenue. It also represents more than 40 per cent of all central government taxation.

Most of the money came out of the pockets of the average man who contributed more than 50 per cent of the total, or approximately $2,735,000,000, for such luxuries as tobacco, beer, spirits and a fling at the football pools or the greyhound races.

The report reveals that Britons downed no less than 922,680,000 gallons of beer during the year, about 10,500,000 gallons of spirits and approximately the same quantity of wines.

A sidelight on the public's gambling habits shows a sharp boost in the volume of "investments" on football pools. Although the number of pools operating last year was reduced to 34 against 41 in the previous 12 months, the total wagered in the 38-week playing season 1951-52 soared to $160,800,000. This was more than $10,000,000 above the 1950-51 figure.

Gouzenko Claims Red Anti-Jewish Drive, War Preparation Device

OTTAWA (BUP)—Soviet leaders are turning their propaganda guns against the Jews as a "more effective way" of preparing the Russian people for a future war, Igor Gouzenko, former Moscow central intelligence school student, said today.

Gouzenko, who has lived incognito "somewhere in Canada" since he fled from the Soviet Embassy here with the evidence of Russia's atomic spy ring stuffed in his shirt, said he expected "more horrible and ghastly efforts to be made to increase the hate of the Soviet people toward the Jews."

The next step in the Russian propaganda war, he said, probably will be to link the Jewish people throughout the world and Zionism with the western powers in order to "pin-point the enemy."

The former embassy cipher clerk voiced his views on the latest development behind the Iron Curtain in an interview by mail with British United Press. "In my opinion there are broader implications in the anti-Jewish propaganda than a desire by Soviet leaders to win over the Moslems or to use Jews as scapegoats to explain economic distresses in Russia and the satellites," he said.

"This anti-Semitic propaganda is part of the preparation of the Russian population for a future war."

"During the last war the Communists abandoned the ideological angle of Fascism vs. Communism and introduced the

Doctor's Charge Brings Answer From Hospital

No Moral Question Says Sister Superior

St. Joseph's Hospital, charged earlier with denying admittance to an emergency case because it was an attempted suicide, issued a statement today explaining the action.

Dr. E. L. McNiven, who blasted the hospital for refusal to give emergency treatment to a 24-year-old Sannech woman who had allegedly attempted to hang herself, ridiculed the hospital defense, and said he had witnesses to support his charges.

The hospital statement, issued by Sister Superior Rose Mary, said: "There was no question of morals so far as the hospital was concerned. Had the doctor asked for admission of the person for emergency treatment, she would have received it regardless of the cause."

The sister continued: "When the doctor phoned he asked simply for a bed; he said nothing of emergency."

NO ACCOMMODATION
She added that St. Joseph's policy is that an attempted suicide who does not need surgical attention is "a case for the psychiatric ward." She pointed out "there is no accommodation of that kind here... there is at the Jubilee."

A conflicting statement from Dr. McNiven says: "I told Sister Superior this was an attempted suicide, that the woman was lying unconscious on the floor and needed immediate attention."

"Police and fire officials were within eight feet of me when I told her this. She replied: 'Take her to Jubilee... and I thanked her very much for her humanitarian point of view.'"

PLASTIC FOOTBALL
PARIS (Reuters)—The refereeing committee of the International Football Federation has decided to carry out tests with a new ball made of plastic. The ball is said to have all the qualities of the normal leather one, but costs less and lasts longer.

Mr. Hannan said outlook for export markets for cereals was excellent but for livestock, dairy and poultry products "far from bright."

In asking some form of protection against vegetable oils, Mr. Hannan said the dairy industry was only asking for something in a small way, which other industries had enjoyed for years.

TARIFF CHALLENGE
"Once again, the farmers of Canada challenge other industries to wipe out all tariff protection, including all restrictions on the immigration of industrial workers, and agriculture will be very happy to do the same."

"Isn't it common knowledge that industry in Canada takes many times more money out of the pockets of Canadian citizens—by means of our relatively high protective tariff for industry and labor shares in the take—than agricultural producers have ever received or asked for? Why then should there be such an outcry against milk producers asking for something to safeguard the family living needs of several hundred thousand families on dairy farms?"

"The plain truth of the matter is that most of the people in Canada are benefitting by protection in their own incomes and then unfairly and inconsistently raise a great cry against farmers attempting a small measure of what they themselves are doing."

more emotional appeal of Germans vs. Russians. It was successful."

There is very little inherent prejudice in Russia against English-speaking people because there has been very little contact, Gouzenko said.

The Soviet leaders are associating the Jews with the western powers to "exploit the undeniable anti-Semitic feelings among the Russian people."

OTTAWA DEBATES EDUCATION AID

CCF Resolution Draws Tory, SC Support; Liberals Against Entering New Field

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF request for greater federal aid to education drew both support and criticism Monday in the Commons.

In what has become an almost annual resolution, R. R. Knight (CCF-Saskatoon) urged that the federal government provide the financial assistance necessary to assure equal opportunity of education to all Canadians.

He won support from Progressive Conservative and Social Credit members, but Liberals led by Justice Minister Garson, attacked the proposal.

In the debate, Mr. Garson said the provinces now are financially able to do more for education. Under tax agreements with the federal governments, the provinces had compiled surpluses of more than $660,000,000 in the last five years.

'NOT WANTED'
No one wanted federal interference in the field of education, Finance Minister Abbott could not write a cheque for primary education and then not make some check on how the money was spent.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the federal government should bring the provinces and municipalities together to discuss the matter. He suggested tax fields should be reallocated to provide provinces and municipalities with the revenues needed to carry out their responsibilities.

'SPECIOUS ARGUMENT'
F. D. Shaw, SC-Red Deer, said the government was hiding behind a "specious argument."

Landy Wins 880
PERTH, Australia (AP)—John Landy of Australia, whose mile times have attracted world attention Monday won the Australian 880-yard championship in one minute, 53.6 seconds.

Finishing in a stiff breeze, he came home 20 yards ahead of his nearest competitor. His time topped the previous meet time of one minute 54.7 seconds, set by Dave White in 1949.

B.C. Telephone Company's three new buildings at Albion, Belmont and Colquitz are scheduled to be completed by Aug. 1, Sept. 1 and Oct. 1, respectively, according to a company announcement today.

Work is under way on the buildings which will house automatic equipment in the company's $2,000,000 conversion program for the Albion, Belmont and Colquitz exchanges.

On completion of the buildings, installation of the complex switching equipment will begin.

Actual conversion of all three systems to automatic operation will take place in the spring of next year when free calling between the Albion, Belmont, Colquitz and Victoria exchanges will go into effect.

Free calling will be introduced as the result of a plebiscite taken some time ago among the Albion, Belmont and Colquitz subscribers who voted overwhelmingly in favor of such a plan.

Three Victoria construction firms have the contract for the new buildings, architects for which are McCarter, Nairne and Partners.

F. A. Robinson will construct the Albion building; Parfitt Construction Co. Ltd., the Belmont.

'NO PROGRESS' MADE IN NEW STRIKE TALK

10 Dead in Gas Explosion, Fire

$2,000,000 Damage Estimated,
Several Injured in Aiken, S.C.

AIKEN, S.C. (AP)—Leaking gas blasted one store to bits, set fires raging through four more, and spread death and destruction in the heart of this town today.

Mayor C. M. Jones estimated that 10 persons perished and the damage totalled $2,000,000. Several persons were injured.

The explosion in the Jones Electrical Company trapped several people in two stores, the mayor said. Hours later the number of dead had not been definitely established but the mayor said tersely:

"I'm afraid at least 10 have perished."

Mayor Jones said the dead had been trapped in the Jones store building and a department store next door. Both buildings were demolished.

No Whitewash Defense Probe Chairman Says

Tory Attempt To Name Parkes Fails

OTTAWA (CP)—The opposition tried unsuccessfully today to wrest the key position of chairman in the Commons defense expenditures committee from the Liberals.

They were voted down 15 to 5 by the Liberal majority. The vote made Col. David Croll (L., Toronto-Spadina) chairman of the committee and he started its proceedings by pledging that it will be "no whitewash" of defense spending.

Members of all three parties in opposition voted for Maj. Gen. G. R. Parkes, V.C. (P.C., Nanaimo).

The committee is expected to call George S. Currie of Montreal, who signed the controversial Currie report, either Thursday or next Tuesday. He is likely to be the key witness in a searching inquiry into his report on the army works service.

Col. Croll, in accepting the chairmanship, said "we hope to seek and ferret out information for the public good."

The Progressive Conservatives sprang the Parkes nomination at the outset of the meeting with Donald Fleming (P.C., Toronto-Eglinton) proposing his name and suggesting that the committee should follow the example of the Commons public accounts committee in the United Kingdom. That committee, he said, always has an opposition member as chairman.

After selecting a chairman, the committee adjourned until Thursday.

The Good Earth

It's only the soil around a potted plant, but it's still the good earth to Hon. James G. Gardiner (right), Federal Minister of Agriculture, who is in Victoria today to address the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention in the Empress Hotel. "Look at that soil—look at the way this plant has grown," he said to H. H. Hannan, president of the federation, Mr. Hannan agreed that B.C. has "wonderful growing soil." The two men met to discuss draft resolutions which will be presented to the convention. (See stories Page 11).—(Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Doctors May Use Thought Therapy

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, D.D.
This is a chapter of the best-selling book, "The Power of Positive Thinking," by Dr. N. V. Peale. Succeeding chapters will be published in The Times daily.

A physician once told me "Many of my patients have nothing wrong with them except their thoughts. So I have a favorite prescription that I write for some. But it is not a prescription that you can fill at a drug store. The prescription I write is a verse from the Bible, Romans 12:2. I do not write out that verse for my patients. I make them look it up and it reads: '... be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind. ... To be happier and healthier they need a renewing of their minds, that is, a change in the pattern of their thoughts. When they 'take' this prescription they actually achieve a mind full of peace. That helps to produce health and well-being."

A primary method for gaining a mind full of peace is to practice emptying the mind. I recommend a mind-emptying at least twice a day, more often if necessary. Definitely practice emptying your mind of fears, hates, insecurities, regrets, and guilt feelings. The mere fact that you consciously make this effort to empty your mind tends to give relief. Haven't you experienced a sense of release when you have been able to pour out to somebody whom you can trust worrisome matters that lay heavy upon your heart?

I conducted a religious service on board the Ss. Lurline on a recent voyage to Honolulu. In the course of my talk I suggested that people who were carrying worries in their minds might go to the stern of the vessel and imaginatively take each like suggestion, drop it overboard, and watch it disappear in the wake of the ship. It seems an almost childlike suggestion, but a man came to me later that day and said, "I did as you suggested and am amazed at the relief it has given me. During this voyage, every evening at sunset I am going to drop all my worries overboard until I develop the psychology of casting them entirely out of my consciousness. Every day I shall watch them disappear in the great ocean of time. Doesn't the Bible say something about 'forgetting those things that are behind'?"

The man to whom this suggestion appealed is not an impractical sentimentalist. On the contrary, he is a person of extraordinary mental stature, an outstanding leader in his field.

Rail Presidents, Union Chiefs Resume Tonight

MONTREAL (CP)—A railway-union meeting on a deadlocked wage dispute affecting 25,000 trainmen was adjourned late today with the statement that it is anticipated a further session will be held tonight.

As the meeting ended at 4:25 p.m. after approximately 25 minutes, president Donald Gordon of Canadian National Railways told reporters:

"We have adjourned in anticipation of a further meeting. L. C. Malone, secretary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the evening meeting is tentatively scheduled for 8 p.m."

There was no immediate indication whether the recess meant there was some hope that a strike call issued by the brotherhood for 6 a.m. local time, next Monday might be averted by a settlement of its wage demands.

It was believed the intervening time between the adjournment and tonight's session will be taken up by discussions by each side among their own delegations.

During the lunch adjournment a union spokesman told reporters "no progress" had been made.

As they left the meeting place in downtown Windsor Hotel, the presidents of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways had no comment to make. They walked off down corridor, talking seriously.

J. A. Kelly of Ottawa, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen, told reporters as he left that there had been "no progress."

3 1/2-Hour Morning Talks Fail

The two sides met for 3 1/2 hours in an effort to solve a deadlock arising from a total of 196,000 employees.

The BRT seeks a 35-per-cent increase for its members and a 40-hour week for yardmen. A conciliation board majority report recommended 12 per cent and a minority report 20 per cent. Difficulty at recent meetings was the brotherhood's wanting to begin discussions on the minority report and the railways' wanting to use the majority report as a basis for discussion.

Average basic wage now is $1.29 an hour.

Members of the brotherhood who would strike if a settlement is not reached include conductors, brakemen, flagmen, yardmen, yard foremen and yard masters. Conductors on the western section of the CNR have their own brotherhood.

Those who would not be on strike but would be affected indirectly by the walkout would include telegraphers, station porters, maintenance men, mechanics, tower men and engineers and firemen, the latter having their own brotherhoods.

Commercial communications would not be affected, but telegraphers dealing solely with the movements of trains would have no work to do unless other arrangements are made by executives now studying procedure during a possible shutdown.

The last time Canada faced a rail strike was in 1950 when the non-operating employees went out.

No 'Gerrymandering' In B.C. Winch Asks

Opposition Leader Harold Winch said in Victoria today the task of re-drawing electoral boundaries in British Columbia "should be a matter of judicial inquiry and decision, to remove it from politics."

He was referring to Premier W. A. C. Bennett's plan to appoint a redistribution committee at the coming session of the legislature.

"A judicial inquiry is the only guarantee that there could be no political gerrymandering," said the CCF leader.

The CCF, he said, "looks forward with interest to the proposal Premier Bennett has in mind when he calls for appointment of a special redistribution committee."

"My previous experience as a member of a committee on the Elections Act, convinces me such a job cannot be done during the period the legislature meets," he said.

Mr. Winch said he welcomed the government's decision to appoint a committee to investigate

A's Trade Fain To White Sox

PHILADELPHIA (BUP)—The Philadelphia A's have traded first baseman Ferris Fain to the Chicago White Sox in a five-player deal. Fain led the American League in batting the last two years.

The White Sox gave up first baseman Eddie Robinson, rookie Ed McGhee and infielder Joe DeMaestri in return for the flashing Athletic star and second baseman Bob Wilson.

Fain led the league in hitting in 1951 with a .344 average and in 1952 with a .327 mark. Last year he also led the league in doubles with 43.

'No Progress' Reported In Rail Strike Parley

Priest, 2 Other Poles To Die For 'Spying'

All Plead Guilty Of Espionage

LONDON (Reuters) — Communist Poland today sentenced a Roman Catholic priest and two other Poles to death on charges of spying for the United States, Warsaw radio reported.

Four other defendants in the "spy" trial at Krakow drew sentences ranging from six years to life imprisonment.

The accused—four Roman Catholic priests, two men and a woman—all pleaded guilty and asked for "just" sentences. Condemned to death by the military tribunal were Rev. Josef Leito, Michal Kowalik and Edward Chachlica.

LONG JAIL TERMS

The other sentences: Rev. Franciszek Szymonek, life imprisonment; Rev. Wit-Bryzki, 15 years; Rev. Jan Pochopien, eight years, and Eugenia Rospond, 20, six years.

The trial brought into the open the Communist regime's struggle against the Catholic church, which has more influence in Poland than other Soviet satellites.

The defendants were alleged to have got routine reports from "naive parish priests" and had them sifted for information to be used against Poland. The charges involved higher church authorities and the Communists may next bring some bishops to trial.

Federal Butter Sales to Stop

OTTAWA (CP)—The agriculture department has been ordered to halt sales of government butter temporarily, it was learned today.

The order was issued by Agriculture Minister Gardiner and became effective Monday. The ban is expected to be continued until at least Feb. 2, when Mr. Gardiner is due back from the west coast.

No reason was given for the order. Sales of government butter had been continuing since November. (In Victoria today Mr. Gardiner stated he had nothing further to add to the announcement.) The government still has about 35,000,000 pounds of butter still in stock.

Keep Politics From Boundary Issue—Winch

Opposition Leader Harold Winch said in Victoria today the task of re-drawing electoral boundaries in British Columbia "should be a matter of judicial inquiry and decision, to remove it from politics."

He was referring to Premier W. A. C. Bennett's plan to appoint a redistribution committee at the coming session of the legislature.

"A judicial inquiry is the only guarantee that there could be no political gerrymandering," said the CCF leader.

The CCF, he said, "looks forward with interest to the proposal Premier Bennett has in mind when he calls for appointment of a special redistribution committee."

"My previous experience as a member of a committee on the Elections Act, convinces me such a job cannot be done during the period the legislature meets," he said.

BUTTE LAKE ISSUE

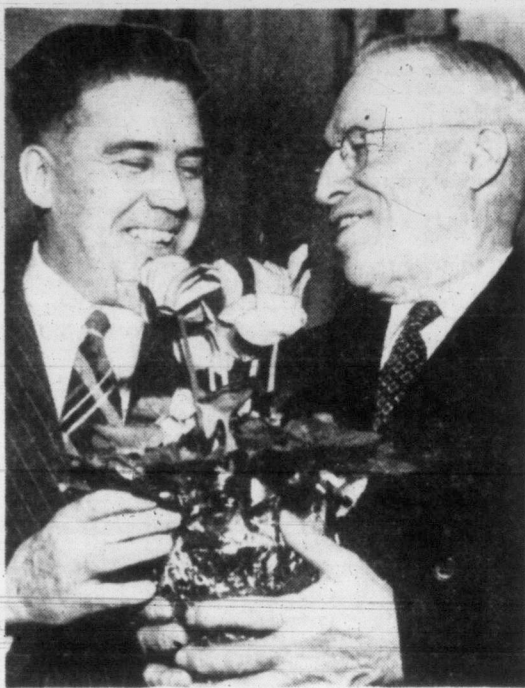

Mr. Winch said he welcomed the government's decision to appoint a committee to investigate the two-year-old Butte Lake issue.

"For the past two years the CCF has asked for such a committee. My hope is that the committee will be given full power to call for evidence and witnesses," he stated.

B.C. Trade Union Man Free on $1,000 Bail

VANCOUVER (CP)—Danny O'Brien, trade union organizer, was released on $1,000 bail Monday when he appeared in police court charged with conspiring to kidnap a woman.

Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson remanded him for one week. Police say the case, which came to their attention last June, is "fairly serious" but gave no details.

The Good Earth

It's only the soil around a potted plant, but it's still the good earth to Hon. James G. Gardiner (right), Federal Minister of Agriculture, who is in Victoria today to address the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention in the Empress Hotel. "Look at that soil—look at the way this plant has grown," he said to H. H. Hannan, president of the federation. Mr. Hannan agreed that B.C. has "wonderful growing soil." The two men met to discuss draft resolutions which will be presented to the convention. (See stories Page 11).—(Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

At Least 10 Killed As Gas Blasts Town

Explosion Wrecks Store, Burns Others; Damage Totals $2,000,000; Several Injured

AIKEN, S.C. (AP)—Leaking gas blasted one store to bits, set fires raging through four more, and spread death and destruction in the heart of this town today.

Mayor C. M. Jones estimated that 10 persons perished and the damage totalled $2,000,000. Several persons were injured.

The explosion in the Jones Electrical Company trapped several people in two stores, the mayor said. Hours later the number of dead had not been definitely established but the mayor said tersely:

"I'm afraid at least 10 have perished."

Mayor Jones said the dead had been trapped in the Jones store building and a department store next door. Both buildings were demolished.

Remington, 35, could be sentenced to up to 10 years in prison and $4,000 in fines on the two counts.

Halloween Masks Disguise Slayers

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Two gunmen wearing Halloween masks shot and killed a 62-year-old Fairbanks night club owner in the kitchen of his home yesterday, police reported.

The victim was Tommy Wright, a longtime resident here. Police said they believed the gunmen were after receipts from the three bars Wright owned in Fairbanks. They fled with only $20 taken from Mrs. Wright's purse.

Made Admiral

Admiral Lord Mountbatten's promotion from acting admiral to admiral of the Royal Navy was announced Monday night. Mountbatten was recently named Mediterranean commander-in-chief for NATO.

Kinda modest, bein' jest a plain Gardiner amongst all them agriculturists, horticulturists an' sech.

Didn't say which side he's on, but a feller tells me a railway strike'll mark th' end o' steal.

Guess a lot o' folks' Coronation hopes keeled over with th' Empress o' Canada.

Presidents, Union Chiefs Adjourn; Meet Again Today

MONTREAL (CP)—Top railway and union executives seeking to head off a nation-wide railroad strike adjourned their meeting for lunch at 1:30 p.m. today and a union spokesman told reporters "no progress" had been made.

The meeting resumes at 4 p.m.

As they left the meeting place in downtown Windsor Hotel, the presidents of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways had no comment to make. They walked off down corridor, talking seriously.

J. A. Kelly of Ottawa, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, told reporters as he left that there had been "no progress."

When a reporter asked whether there had been "no progress at all," he replied: "Unless you call it progress that we are meeting again at 4 o'clock."

The two sides met for 3 1/2 hours in an effort to solve a deadlock arising from the Brotherhood's demand for wage increases for 25,000 union members. It has threatened to pull its men out on strike at 6 a.m. local time next Monday unless a satisfactory settlement is reached.

The situation did not appear hopeful as the meeting adjourned. Some members of the delegations appeared grim-faced as they left the room.

The talks were the second round of discussions in two days. Morning and afternoon meetings Monday ended in failure.

Present today were the presidents of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, whose lines were paralyzed for nine days in 1950 when another group of unions walked off the job in a fight over a pay boost.

Monday's meetings, between the rail vice-presidents and union leaders, collapsed after early indications that some progress might be made. Then, with the situation apparently deadlocked, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced from Ottawa that the railroad presidents were ready to reopen the talks.

The union delegation today includes J. A. Kelly, Ottawa, and L. C. Malone Winnipeg, both international presidents of the BRT and the men who represented the union Monday.

The CNR delegation was headed by president Donald Gordon and included S. F. Dingle, vice-president, and R. Hayes, chairman of the lines negotiating committee.

The CPR group was led by president W. A. Mather and included N. R. Crump, vice-president, and E. S. McCracken, Winnipeg, general manager of the line's Prairie division and chairman of its negotiating committee.

Those who would not be on strike but would be affected indirectly by the walkout would include telegraphers, station porters, maintenance men, mechanics, tower men and engineers and firemen, the latter having their own brotherhoods.

Commercial communications would not be affected, but telegraphers dealing solely with the movements of trains would have no work to do unless other arrangements are made by executives now studying procedure during a possible shutdown.

ROUND TOM'S SQUARE DIET

Sadsack Merriman Freely Admits Job Is Strictly From Hunger

By TOM MERRIMAN

Newspaper life is getting so complicated I would like to quit and run a pub or something.

After a bitter argument with the managing editor I am joed for another one of those slimming diets.

Last year it was Josephine Lowman's ten nightmarish days of a Tubby Hubby diet—ten days of deprivation and denial of most of the things that make life worth while to cut off seven measly pounds which is neither here nor there on a well-rounded figure.

It's true I don't play soccer or water polo anymore. On the other hand I don't want to either. Haven't for over 30 years.

I resisted the assignment but I didn't get anywhere.

"Take this home and read it, Tom," the Man, Ed. said. He handed me a copy of the Readers' Digest. I already had one at home but it's so seldom he gives anything for nothing I took it anyway.

I had read the article. It was the usual line about the danger of overweight. It said the death rate of those who are around 20 per cent too heavy is 44 per cent higher than those of normal weight.

I wasn't impressed. A few weeks ago I had read another article headed "Don't Worry, Fat Men!"

It compared their carefree, happy way of living and ordering food with that of pill-swallowing, narrow-waisted, ulcer-ridden dyspeptics who bring into a restaurant an atmosphere of gloom-as, with drawn brows, they study the menu and decide on one caraway seed and a slice of dry toast.

"They," said the article, "turn every meal into a funeral ceremony. The fat man dies but once, probably with a smile on his face dreaming of roast beef with horse radish, Yorkshire pudding smothered in rich brown gravy, brussel sprouts, potatoes cooked around the roast, a well spiked trifle for dessert, coffee well sweetened or/and a bottle of stock ale."

Two of the most genial, happiest men I know are Walter Thompson, ex-publicity director of the Canadian National, and
